WE NOMINATE

Four "educational ambassadors"—Stephen Kemp Bailey, Carlos Heard Baker, William Chapin Seitz and Arthur Szathmary—who this week were designated as recipients of United States Educational Exchange Grants that will enable them to devote the academic year 1957-58 to teaching and research in European institutions. Representing as many different departments in Princeton University and ranging in "Princeton Experience" from Baker's two decades to Bailey's three years, this quartet of teacher-scholars was among the handful singled out under the provisions of the Fulbright Act to participate in an International Exchange Program which now provides the most effective means of communication between American educators and their counterparts overseas.

If there is a common denominator in documenting the judgments of the Board of Foreign Scholarships, it becomes increasingly apparent that each of the Princetonians honored has made an unusual contribution to American higher education. The 41-year old Bailey, a former Democratic mayor of the city of Middletown, Conn., has been variously described in the Woodrow Wilson School as a "professor turned politician," or a "politician turned professor," while Baker, 48 years old, published in 1952 the first definitive study of the writings of Ernest Hemingway. Some years ago Szathmary introduced a new inter-departmental course, "Philosophy and the Arts," and Seitz, an eminent painter in his own right, was a founder of the Laboratory of Creative Design in New York.

It was as a Dartmouth junior in 1931 that the Maine-born Baker, whose articles and reviews are regularly featured in the scholarly press, made his debut as publisher and editor. Unperturbed by the apathy of depression-worn publishers, Baker and a friend, now cartoonist Abner Dean, struggled with type-faces and linoleum cuts for a sell-out edition of 100 volumes. Their extraordinary success was balanced in the late 1930's by the politics-minded Bailey, a graduate of Hiram College (Michigan), a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford and in post-World War II years a staff associate of the Hoover Commission and staff director of the Connecticut State Reorganization Commission.

Szathmary, 41-year old native of Quincy, Mass., a product of Harvard College and University, and a naval veteran of World War II, belongs in the front rank of American philosophers, particularly for his understanding of the relations between art and philosophy as modes of interpreting human experience. Called to Princeton in 1952 as Critic-in-Residence under the Creative Arts Program, Seitz, formerly professor of art history and aesthetics at the University of Buffalo, is a practicing artist whose definitions of "Spirit, Time and Abstract Expressionism" have helped drop the barriers between painting in the studio and art scholarship in a university.

For understanding the importance of cementing relationships between American and European scholars; for giving the Princeton Community still another reason to take positive pride in its "sphere of Influence;" for personifying the best American higher education has to offer; these four men are our nominees for

RUNAWAY TRAIN
"Dinky" Takes Wild Trip. The Pennsylvania Railroad's "dinky" train that links Princeton with Princeton Junction — a carrier with a history of some pretty wild riders — went on its wildest romp early Sunday without anyone aboard. At approximately 3 a.m., a person or persons unknown released the two-car conveyance from its overnight perch next to the Princeton platform and apparently jumped clear to watch it "fly" south.

Railroad police said the "dinky" built up terrific speed on the downgrade before Lake Carnegie and was still travelling at a good clip when it reached Princeton Junction and shot across a switch leading to No. 5 track, running alongside the main line. A start-tled tower watchman at the Junction reported that the short, darkened train whisked past his post toward Plainsboro almost before he could figure out from which direction the "runaway" had come.

At Walker-Gordon Dairy in Plainsboro, according to the PRR investigators, the "dinky" moved from No. 5 track onto a siding and crashed into four freight cars that had been deposited there the previous day. Damage to the two-car carrier, which was replaced in time for the railroad to meet its Sunday morning obligations, and the freight cars was estimated at "more than $1,000" by the railroad men.

After studying the scene, a spokesman for the PRR detectives reported that "someone who knew what he was doing" released the train. Blocks were removed from the wheels of the

"dinky," certain lines were freed and the train's brakes were cut loose. He doubted that those responsible for the malicious act realized how much speed the train would muster on its own hook between Princeton and the Junction.

Danger Stressed. Pointing out that the "dinky" missed going from its own track to the main line only because the connecting switch was aimed at No. 5 track, the PRR representatives stressed that "serious consequences" might well have resulted from the dangerous prank. No one was hurt due to the hour and the fact that men who might have been loading or unloading the freight cars were not on duty at the time.

The railroad's official spokesman said "lots of investigations" are underway. Borough police, who were contacted Sunday afternoon by the PRR detectives, were asked about anyone who might have been seen in the area of the Princeton station prior to the ill-fated ride. The police were told that Princeton University proctors would be quizzed, just in case students might have been spotted near the station during the night.

"Precautions have been taken to make sure that nothing like this ever happens again," the spokesman assured. He did not elaborate, but it was known that the doors of the "dinky" — also called the "PJ&B" ("Princeton Junction and back") — were locked Monday night and guards were believed to be watching the Princeton station.

Though this is probably the first case of the "dinky" being released on purpose, Princeton-ians recalled the instance some 25 years ago when a runaway engine, tender, baggage car and caboose got away accidentally in the yards here. The engine and tender came to a halt before leaving the tracks, but the two cars toppled over the bridge as the train crossed the Carnegie Lake trestle.

EQUALITY SOUGHT
Integration Is Theme. The question of integration in Princeton was brought back into sharp focus this week by a four-page message,
"Toward Equal Opportunity in Housing," mailed in the past 10 days to all members of the First Presbyterian Church. In the message, the church's committee on social concern outlines the independent integration ideas of the Princeton Housing Group, presents support for integration from the Department of Social Education and Action of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and, above all, seeks the enlistment of adult church members in the integration movement.

Referring to a "Covenant of Open Occupancy," adopted unanimously by the Session of the church last month, the committee stresses that it "felt that all members of our church should be given an opportunity personally to commit themselves to this covenant. To this end, the Session requests all adult members—whose conscience so inclines them —to sign the attached 'Covenant of Open Occupancy' and to return it . . . before June 15."

Members of the First Presbyterian Church have been asked to endorse these tenets:

- Support of those who are opposed to racial discrimination.

- Urge neighbors to help racial integration.
- Welcome integration in areas where houses are for sale or rent.
- Discuss the covenant as a strong point for the welfare of all individuals.
- Enlist the support of neighbors, whether Presbyterians or not.

Along with the request for covenant endorsement, the church members have been informed that they may find out more about the Princeton Housing Group or even aid it by so indicating when they answer the message. The message describes the PHG as a group "not for integration per se, but for freedom."

PERSONALITIES

Morris Maple, 720 Prospect Avenue Extension, onetime leader of untold Princeton community affairs and still an active adviser in several fraternal organizations who this week is "taking in stride" the observance of his 50th anniversary as a painting contractor here. Since he turned 21 back in 1907, Mr. Maple has been one of the town's most respected businessmen, operating out of his home and three different stores during the course of his career. His philosophy: "do the job right, but forget the past and keep looking ahead."

Moore Gates Jr., Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, fast-rising young investment banker who has been elevated to the position of assistant vice-president of the United States Trust Company of New York after serving a decade with that firm, the past three as assistant secretary. A member of Princeton University's class of 1948, of which he is now graduate president, Mr. Gates, a native Princetonian, has remained active in the University's alumni affairs and also is a deacon of the First Presbyterian Church.

Bruce McKinney, The Great Road, 18-year-old Princeton University freshman whose enthusiasm for music at the community level may well give this town a concert band tuned to play outdoor programs on warm summer afternoons and evenings. For details of the McKinney-conceived project which has already enlisted the support of more than two score Princeton musicians, see "Music in Princeton," page 16.

ROUND-UP

FACTS: Off-duty policemen were asked to put their uniforms back on in a hurry Saturday evening when the Borough department was tipped that revenge-minded Jamesburg teenagers might be on their way to Princeton to promote the "gang war" that was threatened outside Hightstown 10 days ago . . . officers patrolled the Nassau Street School area all evening, protecting girls and boys attending the Teen Canteen dance there, but the report of anticipated trouble proved to be a false alarm . . . Town Topics' "Mailbox" (page 17) drew five letters of more than passing interest this week, subject matter ranging from improved traffic control in time of fire to a touching appeal from a homeless waif for a place to live . . . after watching some of his veteran runners move wearily around the Asbury Park oval last Saturday, recording their poorest times of the season, Princeton High Track Coach Win Niles renewed a logical plea for graduating classes to hold their "Senior Farewell" after the track campaign . . . for the second year in a row, several of the senior PHS performers staggered home from wee-hours parties, then found themselves staggering around the track later the same day.

FIGURES: Owners of Princeton Appliance Center, newest store at the Shopping Center, wore broad smiles this week after adding up the results of their first air-conditioner ads, which ran for two consecutive issues in TOWN TOPICS . . . Thin Line air conditioners, actually Admirals, were advertised and "hundreds of interested persons" turned out for a look and a demonstration as a result of the reduced price that was offered . . . "over 100 air-conditioning units were sold during our first sale," the owners reported . . . on the subject of phenomenal sales, Zinder's noted this week that "more than 3,000" flying saucers have been sold at that store alone since the latest game craze, stimulated by University students, first hit Princeton . . . the Boards of Health of the Borough and Township did some figuring this week, too, discovering that no less than 800 Princeton dogs received rabies shots during last week's five-day clinic program . . . by the most recent canine census count, that total works out to about 40% of the community's pooches.

FUTURE: The question of the proposed demolition of Borough Hall's longtime structural neighbor, Rose Cottage, which has been considered a financially sound move by the supervising board of trustees of the Thompson Estate but a not-so-good idea by certain people who like to use its handy facilities, may well be raised again soon . . . some observers have expressed the belief that the future of Rose Cottage could become a "political football" on the local field during this fall's election campaign . . . back-yard chefs will compete against each other on June 15 in a novel contest open to all at the Shopping Center . . . posts were installed this past week at the new 53-stall municipal parking lot on Mercer Street, meters will follow atop the posts next week and parking will be possible by Reunions weekend (June 13-14-15) . . . the Community Players have announced their ambitious schedule of plays for next season: "The Matchmaker" (October), "On-dine" (November), "The Frescoes" (December), "Pictures in the Hallway" (January) and "Macbeth" or Caesar and Cleopatra" (spring production).

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why, week in and week out, TOWN TOPICS has double the classified advertising volume of all other Princeton papers combined.

TOGETHER SINCE JUNE 1, 1892: This Saturday, two of Princeton's most remarkable individuals, Rev. and Mrs. Charles R. Erdman Sr., will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary with a gathering of friends at their home, 20 Library Place. The well-known and well-loved Princeton couple married a year following Dr. Erdman's graduation from Princeton Theological Seminary, when he was a 26-year-old enroute to a tremendously successful church career. Both Erdmans are still active members of the community, looking forward to the next decade and their 75th year together in 1967.

TOPICS Of the Town

"ODDNYBROOK"

Reservoir Resentment Mounts. Indications that the State legislature plan to act immediately on the 500-acre reservoir proposed for Stony Brook between Princeton and Pennington this week brought heated reactions from residents in the area. Focal points for area sentiment were the Stony Brook-Milstone Watersheds Association, Inc., and a newly-formed Citizens Committee for a Sound Water Plan. Governor Robert B. Meyner put the spark to this week's flame on Monday with an announcement that legislative leaders are considering ways of forcing public referendum on a bond issue to finance the $14,000,000 project. Specifically, the Governor disclosed that studies are being made for financing of land purchase in the Stony Brook and Spruce Run areas with funds from the Veterans Quarters Loan Fund.

The suggestion that the state might buy land first and make on-the-ground surveys later brought an immediate cry of "ramming through" and "covering up" from the Watersheds Association.

"The existence of inaccuracies of such magnitude indicates that the justification of the Smith Committee's conclusions are entirely open to question," said Paul Van

Wegen of Pennington, association president. "Not an acre of land should be purchased until proper engineering and economic studies have been made."

The eight-year-old conservation committee, which has been making surveys of the area ever since its inauguration, predicted that the $4 million proposed by Governor Meyner for the purchase of land for both projected reservoirs would hardly be sufficient for the Stony Brook area. In addition the group stated that the purchase of as little as 30 acres of land in excess of needs, a distinct possibility considering the accuracy of 20-foot contour maps such as those used by the State's advisory committee—would entirely finance a pre-purchase engineering survey of the area.

Hearing Date Set. Governor Meyner's statement followed the introduction of the legislation by Senator Robert C. Crane, Union State Republican, of two bills proposing issuance of obligation bonds and construction of the two dams. Hearings on the bills were set for next Thursday in the Assembly Chamber by the Senate Committee on the Revision and Amendment of Laws, of which Senator Wayne Dumont is chairman.

Noting that the proximity of the hearing date prevented adequate study of the bills introduced, Mr. Van Wegen charged that the Smith Committee report is aimed at making the development of water supply on the Raritan in a piecemeal fashion rather than through an integrated, well thought out and well engineered, basin-wide plan. If their present proposal has the merit they claim, then it will stand the test of being judged economic in relation to the whole system of reservoirs which should be built.

Culminating weeks of discussion and informal planning ever since the disclosure May 2 of the proposals by the privately-financed New Jersey Water Resources Advisory Committee, the citizens in the area to be affected by the Stony Brook lake banded formally into the Citizens Committee for a Sound Water Plan. Alfred L. Test of Princeton is serving as chairman of the committee, which intends "to promote surveys of the water problems of the State and give all the people a chance to study the hastily contrived Smith plan."

Citizens of Pennington, Hopewell and Lawrence and Princeton Townships are being recruited for committee work by the group's executive committee, which plans to appoint special committees to examine all aspects of the reservoir proposals. Executive committee members are Edward Meredith of Hopewell, John R. Gallaudet of Pennington, Irving Kingsford and Hallett Johnson Jr. of Lawrence Township and the chairman, George A. Brakley of Princeton is committee treasurer.

In announcing this week the formation of the citizens committee, Mr. Test stated that "we are shocked that a group of presumably responsible citizens such as the Smith Committee could endorse a reservoir plan based on such flimsy evidence. We will fight for a stop-by-step plan that will solve the water problems of New Jersey, but first let us stop what looks to us like railroad-baiting. The public has a right to know exactly what they are being asked to buy and to be heard in the true American tradition."

By press time there was still no indication that definite legislative action would be taken before the June 17 recess. Governor Meyers, who has discussed the plans presented by the committee headed by George F. Smith, president of Johnson and Johnson, had expressed no personal preference on the plans he said were being studied. Senator Malcolm Forbes, Republican gubernatorial candidate who was instrumental in getting the bills introduced so that public hearings could be held on the issue, also declined to take a stand.

TAX BILLS OUT

Mayor Explains Rates. Paving the way for tax bills for the second half of 1957, in the mails this week, Mayor P. Mackay Sturges released an official statement of explanation which he hopes all Borough taxpayers will consider. The bills are figured at the 1957 tax rate and, for real property, are based on the new 1957 assessments, established by the Borough assessor at one-third true value (the latter determined by a Borough-wide appraisal last summer.)

"In some instances the tax bill will be smaller than that for the first half of the year; in other instances the bill will be larger," the mayor noted. "The amount of total tax depends upon the assessed value of the property and the current tax rate. The total tax rate is the aggregate of the rates established by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Mercer County, the Borough Board of Education and the Mayor and Council."

Mayor Sturges remarked that "nationwide inflation and an approximate 50% decline in the purchasing power of the dollar have effected everyone, including municipalities." To underscore this point by way of a recent comparison, he said the 1957 tax rate per $100 of assessed valuation is $5.86, compared with $5.58 just a year earlier.

"For example," the mayor continued, "if your property was valued at $24,000 by the Clemmshaw appraisal, it would be assessed by the Borough assessor at one-third, or $8,000. At the 1957 rates, the tax breakdown would be as follows:

Board of Education . . .	$210.40
Borough	137.60
Mercer County	120.80

Total Tax $468.80

"While the Borough of Princeton is the collecting agency for all three units, the Mayor and Council control only the budget of the municipality."

Mayor Sturges concluded his statement with these thoughts: "The growth of any community is likely to result in a substantial rise in school costs and unless the new houses send the additional pupils to the schools, are of sufficient value to generate a tax which covers the costs, the additional costs must be added to and shared by the other taxpayers."

"If the decrease in the purchasing power of the U. S. dollar continues, a rise in the tax rate will necessarily follow unless the citizens of the Borough will be satisfied with fewer or inferior services. A growing city can sometimes match an increase in costs by the taxes received from new families, but in the case of the Borough of Princeton the maximum of families has just about been reached, because almost every piece of land has been built upon."

"In the furtherance of good citizenship, all taxpayers should acquaint themselves with the cost of the governmental services they receive and should exercise, far more fully than they do at present, their rights to control and vote upon public expenditures."

FREED, THEN JAILED

Sentence for "Peeping" After receiving his freedom from a jury of 11 men and one woman which considered a serious rape case against him, David A. Dean was sent to the Mercer County workhouse for 90 days as a result of three different charges of "peeping." The rape acquittal took place last Thursday in Superior Court in Trenton, following a four-day trial and a three-hour jury session, while the comparatively light "peeping" term was imposed this Tuesday in Municipal Court here.

The 32-year-old house painter, of 104 Jefferson Road, was found not guilty of entering a Westminster Choir College dormitory one night last February to rape a 25-year-old student and subsequently attempt to rape a 20-year-old cord. Judge Clifton C. Bennett had instructed the jury to evaluate a signed "confession" that the defendant gave to Borough police, and apparently the jury considered there was a reasonable element of doubt concerning methods used to obtain the statement.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS
Plan Plays, Make Changes.
Meeting at mid-week — but too late for inclusion of full developments in this issue of TOWN TOPICS—members of the Princeton Community Players were expected to give serious consideration to several productions for next fall and winter and to approve at least one important change in the group's by-laws. A spokesman for the organization said he anticipated no difficulty whatsoever in gaining approval of the change as well as confirmation of four replacements on the Players' board of trustees.

The by-laws amendment would switch the time for the Players' election of officers from June, the customary month for such voting, to January. Such a change would enable the group to install new leaders at the height of its season rather than the tail-end, when some members have already left town for the summer and interest has waned due to the lack of an immediate production coming up. If approved, the amendment would go into effect at once, thus postponing this year's election for six months.

Those to be nominated for the trustee positions are E. Nicholas Muller, Byron Keene, Henry Ross and Nancy Knox. They will replace A. Munro Wade, Georgine Holl, Frank L. Schmertz and Alice Braveman.

THE PLAYHOUSE
The Little Hut (May 30-June 1) succeeded as a play on stages in Paris, London and New York largely because it dealt with a subject that could never get by a movie censor; i.e., the story of two Englishmen, the wife of one of them and their unorthodox three-sided relationship on a tropical island. F. Hugh Herbert, a "sexpert" writer of such borderline film fare ("The Moon is Blue," for example), has doctored the script of "Hut" considerably, but, despite his noble effort, much of the original impact has been lost in transition. (Not enough to remove the picture from a "strictly adult" classification, however.)

Added to the Herbert scenario are Ava Gardner, Stewart Granger and David Niven, who do the best they can under the circumstances. Big problem: They have a difficult acting task to perform, for they must hint at the idea of a wife-sharing arrangement without ever getting down to brass tacks . . . a problem the principals in the stage version never faced. Brilliant Eastman color has been utilized to enhance Ava, London, Rome and Jamaica, but it hasn't camouflaged that old adage about beauty being only skin-deep.

This Could Be The Night (June 2-5) stars Paul Douglas, Jean Simmons and a lineup of extremely funny supporting actors in one of producer Joe Pasternak's more amusing efforts. Unlike many of his films, this one relies on intimacy and avoids the lavish and lush. It deals delightfully with the invasion of a night club by a Smith College alumna (Miss Simmons), who is hired by the big and burly but warm-hearted owner (Mr. Douglas) and eventually is wooed by a tough partner (Anthony Franciosa), the type of ladies' man who is hardly accustomed to the Smith breed. Mr. Franciosa, incidentally, is the most important new face in the film, making a solid impression though looking a mite too grim (possibly a holdover from his stage work in "A Hatful of Rain") with all the cheerfulness surrounding him.

Somewhat surprisingly, "Night" uses black-and-white instead of Technicolor to tell its story on —Continued on Page 6

Time to Order: NOW!

Because the Caribbean Calypso Carnival of Jean-Leon Destine is expected to "pack the house" at McCarter Theatre over Princeton Reunion weekend, Managing Directors Isadora Bennett and Richard Pleasant this week urged interested parties to make their reservations now for the highly regarded show. Tickets for any of the three evening performances—June 13, 14 and 15—can be ordered by mail or by phoning the McCarter box office (5515).

As far as the United States is concerned, Destine and his troupe of song-and-dance colleagues were "born" at McCarter last month, when Bennett & Pleasant recognized them as a group of show business' hottest futurities and booked them at once for the return engagement in June. Mr. Pleasant, an alumnus of Princeton, said this week that there are plenty of seats available for each performance, though he predicted that returning classes would buy up most of the Friday tickets for returning wives.

the wide CinemaScope screen; yet, this treatment actually seems more appropriate for the night club setting. Isobel Lennart's fast, modern and witty screenplay is largely responsible for the fun that is realized. Other worthy contributors, along with the ever-dependable principals, are Julie Wilson, Joan Blondell, J. Carrol Naish and Zazu Pitts.

THE GARDEN

Don Giovanni (May 30-June 1), sung in Italian with an English synopsis, is Mozart's great comic opera, filmed at the Salzburg Festival in 1954. As a motion picture, it is understandably stiff, but, as opera, the singing and orchestra are excellent, the high fidelity sound reproduction is rich and melodious. A full-length treatment of the composition (three hours), the film features Cesare Siepi, Lisa Della Casa, Otto Edelmann and Erna Berger, with the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra and a chorus of the State Opera. "Don Giovanni" is shown in color and requires a special time schedule (2:00, 6:30 and 9:10 p.m. each day.)

Reach for the Sky (June 3-8), first release of Rank Film Distributors of America Inc., the new American arm of the Rank organization, is a wise choice, for it is a motion picture with wide appeal that tells a difficult tale with strong dramatic effect and sustained suspense. "Sky" relates the true story of Douglas Bader, a marvelous pilot who lost both legs in a plane crash shortly after completing his flight training, then went on to recuperate and become probably the greatest airman in Britain's RAF during World War II.

Princeton moviegoers may be hothot by some of the film's colloquialisms, which are characteristically British, but the memorable story, plus the numerous grade-A flying scenes, prove ample to overshadow this single drawback. Kenneth More, one of England's "hottest" properties, figures to earn new fans on this side of the Atlantic because of his honest and vigorous performance as the courageous flier, while Muriel Pavlow, Lyndon Brooks Lee Potterson and Dorothy Allison are fine aides. Alexander Knox, the most familiar name on the roster, does well as the surgeon who removes the pilot's legs.

FOOTLIGHT FOOTNOTE

"Tables" Turn Tables. "Separate Tables," Terence Rattigan's dramatic import which enjoyed its American premiere in Princeton eight months ago, played its 250th performance on Broadway this week, the seventh oldest veteran among regulars now holding forth along the Gay White Way. In so doing, the superbly acted tour de force turned the tables on Town Topics' reviewer by packing 'em in much longer than anticipated; what's more, the show still has given no indication of running out of steam.

SPRIGHTLY SPIDER: Jean-Leon Destine is shown as the Spider in one of the great Haitian artist's most famous numbers, a highlight of the many-faceted program of Caribbean song, rhythm and dance in Destine's Festival of Calypso and Voodoo at McCarter Theatre for three evening performances—June 13, 14 and 15.

"Despite its many stimulating ingredients," Town Topics' critic wrote after witnessing the drama's first performance at McCarter Theatre, "Tables" did not pour as if it was America's cup of tea. It may have been consumed with great vigor at home, and it will be sampled by a lot of New York theatre patrons after it opens at the Music Box on October 25 (as indicated by a good advance sale); yet it is not destined for a lengthy Broadway run. American theatergoers en masse will not swallow this typically British tedium."

Swallowing crow, Town Topics' aisle-sitter now has nothing to add except, "More power to Margaret Leighton, Eric Portman and company!"

MUSIC CIRCUS

Opens This Saturday. St. John-Terrell gets his ninth Lambertville Music Circus season underway this Saturday with a four-week run of "The Pajama Game." The musical hit which ran for two and a half years on Broadway was Marti Stevens, Jack Goode and Peter Kelley in the lead roles, while Ellen Ray, Art Barnett, Jim Hutchison, Nat Burus, Adria Rice and Johnny Call are featured.

Miss Stevens was reared in the movie business through her father, Nicholas M. Schenck, a top executive at MGM for many years. She received her leading singing assignments in night clubs throughout the country as well as in London, where she conducted her own TV show. Mr. Goode, a veteran comedian, is repeating the role of Hines which he played in the Broadway company for five months. Mr. Kelley is best known for his important Broadway work in "Two's Company" and "Wish You Were Here."

"The Pajama Game" will continue on "Music Mountain" through June 30. A highlight performance will be that of June 23, the evening the Princeton Kiwanis Club buys out the entire house and sponsors the show for proceeds to back its many welfare projects. Tickets for this particular performance are now available through Tom Foody (Princeton 1-3350) or any member of the Kiwanis organization.

MORE ADVERTISERS use Town Topics exclusively than any other paper in Princeton. It costs them less per copy, too.

IT'S NEW To Us

Country Cousins. Time was, as they used to say down on the farm, when "country clothes" meant a pair of milled-overalls and grandpa's bandanna. Today, of course, country clothes have been so slickered up they look like the big town itself. If you like precisely cut, high-style country casuals, don't miss the new Mary Chapin shop at 236 Nassau, a branch of Mary Chapin in North Jersey.

The new country shop has self-servic, just like a city-bred market, and instead of the country-savvy wide barrel, it offers you a basket of free nickels for parking money. (There's a method in this; you can browse longer on this comic than on one.)

Begin with a short-sleeved shirt ($8.95) in hot orange and yellow crossbar cotton. Wear it with a skirt and box shirt jacket (wooden buttons) of poplin design in a very dark olive that somebody calls "dark marine." A chino skirt has the hot orange in a belt.

Mix these all up with orange or chino Bermudas, Jamaica's, short-shorts. The orange and yellow retails again in a dress with short sleeve, gathered skirt and boned cummerbund.

Two sundresses bare their shoulders to summer: a halter style in the same crossbar mentioned above, only green; a Madras with a skirt that's full as a sunflower.

For calico kittens, there's a large collection with a shirt ($5.95 and $7.50, depending on whether it has sleeves), a pinafore for $12.95 and a skirt that wraps itself around you for $8.95. With these you could wear a pair of flats made of blue denim lined with red calico and showing a petticoat of calico at the vamp.

For marketing, there's a flat, well-cut blue denim skirt, $4.95, and blue jeans from an 18 inch waist up to a 42. For more elegant casual wear, the Mary Chapin shop has Elizabeth Phelps' sports clothes. Order these from swatches for delivery in six days. The Mary Chapin shops are the only places outside Lord and Taylor where the Phelps collection is available.

Another aristocrat, Vera Maxwell, sends her country line to Chapin, and there is an occasional Maxwell costume dress and coat, too.

Anybody who chauffeurs a continental could wear a station-wagon dress in "vick" or redingham ($10.95) with dog-chain belt.

Flair in a Barn

Ingenuity, two frenzied days with brush and paint-pot and some really professional skill at decorating have produced delightful results at the new Mary Chapin Shop at 236 Nassau Street.

A one-foot white picket fence goes under the windows out side and guides you into the shop's front door. The floor has been treated to "antiquing" and there's a bale of hay in one corner. It's real hay, not just excelsior from a package. (Although that's probably there, too.)

A white brick wall goes across the back (wallpaper is a wonderful invention) and there are tote pots of ivy and geraniums in strategic places. The spokes of a wagonwheel support a glass top and make a round coffee table thereby.

Straw hats that may become a kind of trade mark for the shop, hang against the black painted shutters. Old pickers, a real cradle (unoccupied when we peeked in) and a rural mailbox — can't you smell the alfalfa?

matching carry-all bag ($2.95) and jockey hat.

Princeton's Mary Chapin shop is run by Susi Marzoni and Gay Marchman who don't mind at all if you call them "The Chapin Girls." They have that big basket of nickels to keep the parking ticket from your door, but when you buy anything in their shop, it's a cash-right 10¢ barrel-head. Credit is for city city slickers.

B. A. in Gold. The town's smallest diploma is a tiny gold charm gift for your favorite graduate. You could also give a gold mortarboard charm, or even the bracelet itself if she doesn't have one. LaVake-Reid, 54 Nassau, would be happy to oblige.

For $12.50, you can buy a simple graduation present that a girl will wear for the rest of her life. It's a pin made into a circle of gold. These circlets come in several sizes, most of them around one and one-half inches in diameter. There are little gold wish-bones, too, to make something bright on a dark dress.

A girl's graduation watch might be the $35 Bulova that represents the starting figure for girls' watches. (How about a sport watch with a wide-leather strap? Pearl bracelets, strung with cultured pearls, start at $8, and cultured necklaces begin at $29.50. They go on up—way, way up—of course, but we thought we'd start at the beginning.)

For boys, LaVake-Reid suggests too—the most popular graduation gift for any boy. The Bulova start at $39.75 (it costs more to be a boy), and if you ask the —Continued on Page 8 recipient first, he'll probably say he wants a watch that's shock and waterproof. Many watches are also automatic.

A smaller present might be a pair of gold cuff-links, a tie clip in gold, or a key chain. You can even have a whole key made in gold—(who gets the gold shavings when the key is cut?)

If a key is watched, cleaned and linked, he can always use a stering silver cigarette case, probably with a monogram.

Through Italian Glass. Smoky greens, greys and blues have been used by Italian craftsmen in some new glass pieces at Heiman's Gift Shop, 164 Witherspoon. All these are tall, slim pieces that have been designed for decoration rather than use, although one tapering decanter in smoky green with tear-drop stopper could certainly be used and admired at the same time.

One bottle looks like a giant, smooth-surfaced coke bottle done in smoky shades of green. There are two bottles with handles, one with a spherical bottom and one with a true pitcher shape. Another bottle has a neck like a drinking straw and a base wrapped in raffia, like an elongated Chianti bottle. Empty.

Norway prefers pottery to glass. A small jardiniere is made of white glazed pottery, flared, and decorated with blue lines that follow the curve of the vase. A tall urnlike vase has a line and leaf pattern, and a white pitcher—just made for cold milk—has blue lines and blue leaves against its cool surface.

California likes pottery, too, but you know how those Californians are. This piece is a serving dish shaped like a jawbone. Three small fish are outlined on it, for the obvious reason—do fish have jawbones? Anyhow, there are small ashtrays that match.

The next California set it white, with bands of tiny mosaics for a colorful and gold-splashed trim. These aren't mosaics really, but the painting has been done so artfully that you'd never know. There is an oval vase, cigarette box, ashtrays and a shallow candy bowl that would also be fine for paper clips, bobby pins and postage stamps.

Know somebody who collects ceramic animals? Here is a group of pink powder, three dogs (breed unknown) and some pink cats with sequins in their ears. Moderns will like a group of black and white animals: a cat whose arched back makes him a horse-shoe, a seated dog that looks like an anchor, a giraffe, a peacock that's nothing but a backwards "C." They are almost line drawings, if you say such a thing about sculpture.

Book Mark. String up the hammock, pour the lemonade and turn to chapter one. The book might be "Turf of the Tide" in which Arthur Bryant, Field Marshal Lord Alanbrooke describes his war MORE ADVERTISERS use Town Topics exclusively than any other paper in Princeton. experiences. Perhaps it's the latest Don Camillo by Guareschi Giovanni. "Don Camillo Takes the Devil by the Tail," in which the priest, of course, once more meets his friendly enemy, the Communist Peppone.

You may gather from the above that you have been in the Princeton Book Mart on Palmer Square, and such is the case. We are particularly fascinated by Vance once Packard's "The Hidden Persuaders." Do you know why women undergo a decrease in eye-blink rate when they are in super-markets, or why children like cereals that crack and crunch? Mr. Packard has the answers.

Princeton's Francis Henry has a novel "Fire and Morning" about Richard III in which he takes Shakespeare's side. Paul Murray Kendall writes a book (non-fiction) "Richard the Third" in which he disputes Shakespeare. Better read both.

David Dodge, another Princeton author, has a 1957 edition of his "Poor Man's Guide to Europe." For making notes in the margin, the Book Mart advises either of two pens. One costs $1.95, the other $20. The first is the Satellite ball-point by Scripto, a pen that writes on surfaces scoured by other ball-points, surfaces where a moist hand has made writing difficult, let us say. The other is the Parker 61. Dip it in the ink upside down. Let it stay for 10 seconds while capillary action fills the pen, then lift it slowly out, put the top on and write a check for $20.

The state's case against Dean, presented by Assistant Prosecutor Edward J. Phelan, rested primarily on the "confession" inasmuch as neither girl was able to identify her assailant because he wore a white mask. Though both victims testified that they recognized the defendant's voice as that of the man who attacked them, there was little circumstantial evidence against him.

Attorney Richard J. S. Barlow Jr., who defended Dean in Trenton and Princeton at the expense of some of the defendant's neighbors, called the painter's landlord to testify that Dean was home in bed the night of the choir college attacks. The defendant told the court that he remembered nothing whatsoever after going to bed following an all-day drinking spree.

Before Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro, sitting in Municipal Court, three Westminster students — Robert Wert, Robert Morrison and Miss Dorothy Stretsky — identified Mr. Dean as the "Peeping Tom" who was seen standing near East Hall on three different occasions two months after the events of February 6. The defendant, who pleaded innocent to the "peeping" complaints, was caught by student "vigilantes" after being spotted by Mr. Morrison on March 26, Miss Stretsky on April 2 and Mr. Wert on the night of his apprehension. Magistrate Chesebro, terming the identification as "positive," sentenced the painter to 30 days on each charge, the sentences to run consecutively.

Two Fines Total $120. Lee Tillery, Bear Brook Road, Princeton Junction, paid $105 in Borough court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of taking a car without the owner's permission.

A second offense, driving without a license, cost him $15 more. Failure to keep to the right drew a $25 fine for R. C. Ridgway, Jeffers Road, Plainsboro.

SCHOOL BOARD BUSY
Four New Teachers Hired. The Princeton Borough Board of Education recommended the appointment of four new teachers at its meeting Tuesday night. Traffic at the High School, proposed tuberculosis tests in Mercer County, and bids on oil and new equipment were among the highlights of the board's busiest session in some time.

The new teachers are: Miss Nancianne Brown, elementary music department; Miss Marcie Klucker, elementary physical training; Miss Peggy A. Taylor, Nassau elementary school; and Ralph Higgins, high school science. The appointment of Miss Elizabeth C. Fillman as assistant to the high school librarian and Samuel H. McDowall as art teacher at the Witherspoon School have also been approved by the board.

Superintendent B. Woodhull Davis informed the board that Mercer County has been chosen by the New Jersey Tuberculosis Association as a rural test county for detecting tuberculosis through injections. The most commonly used "patch-test" has not been found effective in more than 35-40% of the cases, Mr. Davis said. The tests will be given to children of kindergarten age and upward, with their parents' permission.

Mr. Davis also reported that the students have done better than ever in college board tests, with an average score of 600 points. Maximum score is 800 points, which three students achieved.

Mr. Davis' report stressed the fact that "a drastic improvement in the traffic situation" has taken place since the recent Borough investigation. As soon as a policeman showed his face a few times, and the matter received some publicity, the situation improved," he said.

The board voted to continue to carry accident insurance for the students with the Washington Insurance Company in Red Bank. The rates have gone up this year from $1 to $1.75 per student and from $10 to $12 per student football player. The cost is paid by parents.

A bid for $1,182.43 from John Mallick and Sons in Camden for manual training supplies was found to be the lowest bid and was accepted. Nassau Oil Company was low bidder on delivering oil to the High School, while Princeton Fuel Oil was low bidder for Witherspoon School.

In its reply to various requests of the student board of education, the Borough board made it plain that "the expanding academic teaching program" comes before anything else. Requests for amplifying equipment at the athletic field and behind-the-wheel instruction in drivers' training were turned down in order to save money for academic purposes.

P.T.A. to Install Officers. St. Paul's Parent-Teacher Association will install a full slate of officers on Tuesday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Henry Tobin, Trenton regent, will preside.

Mrs. John B. McNally is the new president. Other new officers are Mrs. Anthony Zuccarello, first vice-president; Mrs. Ruben Johnson, second vice-president; Mrs. Malcolm Jones, third vice-president; Mrs. Robert Hoffman, recording secretary; Mrs. Patrick Corvino, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Godfried Gutbrodt, treasurer.

Students to Present Play. The modern language students at Princeton High School will present a "Fiesta-Soiree" Friday, May 31, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

An original skit written by Frank Soda, head of the department, and his French and Spanish students, will make up the first half of the program. The setting is a cafe on the French-Spanish border.

The remainder of the program will feature authentic folk songs and dances directed by Carmen Prezioso, Spanish teacher at the school, who has done much research work in this field. Students participating in these numbers are: Thomas Alston, William Fowler, Patricia Gee, Joseph Moore, Faith Parago, Edgar Ridick, Jeanne Scudder, Durant —Continued on Page 10

Obituaries

Mrs. Carrie U. Drake, 71, of 16 East Prospect Street, Hopewell, died May 26 at her home. A native of Platts, O., she had lived in Hopewell for more than 50 years. Mrs. Drake was a member of the Missionary Society and Ladies Aid of the Calvary Baptist Church. She also belonged to the Chapter 146, Daughters of Liberty.

Wife of William H. Drake, she is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Rowley, and a son, C. Lloyd Drake of Hopewell, a sister and four grandchildren. The service was held at a Hopewell funeral home, with burial in Harborton Cemetery.

Miss Rosalie V. M. Halsey, 85, who lived for many years at 315 Nassau Street, died May 25 after a long illness.

Daughter of the late William F. and Francis E. H. Halsey, she is survived by a sister, three nieces and two nephews. A private funeral in Elizabeth was followed by burial in Evergreen Cemetery in that city.

William A. Tolson, a research engineer with the RCA Laboratories, died May 25 in Cocoa, Fla. A former resident of Camden, where he was first employed by RCA, he was later assigned to the Princeton laboratories. Last November, he was transferred to Florida.

Mrs. Lillian R. Meiklejohn, 62, of Maple Terrace, died May 28 in Princeton Hospital after a long illness. She was a lifelong resident of Princeton.

Wife of Robert A. Meiklejohn, she is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Margaret N. Chilcote; two sisters, Mrs. Irene Lucy of Princeton and Miss Josephine Green of Trenton. The service will be held Friday morning at 10 in the Kimble Funeral Home, with the Rev. Charles C. Newberry of Trinity Episcopal Church officiating. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

William T. White, 79, of "Hill-top" on the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road died May 23 after a long illness. Board chairman and former president of the Union Mills Paper Co. and Universal Paper Bag Co. of New Hope, Pa., he was best known in Princeton as a member of the Township Committee, on which he served for 24 years.

First elected in 1922, he was re-elected for seven more terms, retiring in 1946 after he had helped guide the steadily-growing municipality through many of its formative years. During his term of office, the township's population more than tripled — from 1,500 to nearly 5,000.

Born in New Brighton, Pa., on April 2, 1878, Mr. White attended Lehigh University, Class of 1901. He moved to Trenton at the turn of the century and three years later, married Miss Augusta H. Roebbling of that city. His widow survives him.

His business career began in the sales department of John A. Roebbling's Sons in 1900. Nine years later, he became general manager of the Mercer Automobile Co., manufacturer of cars bearing that name and sold as high-powered sports models.

Mr. White sold his interests in the automobile field in 1920 and the following year became president of the New Hope paper companies. He guided them for 18 years, becoming chairman of the board in 1939.

His interests extended to many other fields, including assistance with the financing of the Stacy-Trent Hotel in Trenton and the Princeton Inn. He was senior member of the board of directors of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company and a former senior warden and vestryman of Trinity Church.

In addition to Mrs. White, he leaves a son, Ferdinand F.; a daughter, Mrs. George R. Cook, 3d, and two grand-daughters.

The funeral was held in Trinity Church on Saturday, Private burial followed.

DEATH IN LAKE

Drowning Accidental, Lake Carnegie, normally a mild-mannered body of water, claimed another drowning victim this past week. Franklin P. Rhinesmith, 68, of Kingston, was found by fishermen floating in 10 feet of water at 5:30 a.m. Friday, some 48 hours after he was last seen alive.

Reconstructing the probable sequence of events, State Police investigators reasoned that Mr. Rhinesmith, who had lost his janitorial job at the King's Inn a week earlier, became intoxicated and slipped into the lake, just east of the Kingston dam. They based their opinion on a similar tumble which the elderly man survived three years ago.

Medical authorities and the police agreed there was no foul play in the case of Mr. Rhinesmith, ruling that his death was caused by accidental drowning. Burial of the ex-janitor, who had no known survivors, took place last Saturday in New Brunswick.

A CALL TO ACTION!!

A Bill to create the Stony Brook Reservoir has been introduced in the New Jersey Legislature.

Proponents of this Bill are already mobilized to push it through. A public hearing has been scheduled for Thursday, June 6, at the State House in Trenton.

This project would affect the future of Mercer County and particularly the municipalities of Pennington Borough, Hopewell Township, Hopewell Borough, Lawrence Township, Princeton Township and Princeton Borough.

We urge every citizen to inform himself about the plan. We intend to oppose hasty and ill-considered legislation and to work toward a sound, long-range solution of New Jersey's water problems.

The Citizens Committee for a Sound Water Plan solicits your membership and support.

DRIVER FINED $285
More Charges Pending. Frederick Wayman, the meandering motorist from Morrisville who led Borough Patrolmen James Kopliner and John Markson on a not-so-merry, 100-mile-an-hour chase from Princeton to Plainsboro the evening of April 4, has paid for his errant ways. On Tuesday before Magistrate John Holohan in Plainsboro, the 22-year-old was fined $100 and $5 court costs and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence for reckless driving, the same thing over again for leaving the scene of an accident and $50 plus $5 for failure to comply with police directions.

In addition to these penalties, the magistrate placed young Wayman on "indefinite probation," which may or may not be a short time, depending on the outcome of a trial in Bucks County early next month. At that time, the wild driver, currently free on $2,500 bail, will face a serious complaint of armed robbery. On June 11, if he is still able to be present, he will be called into Municipal Court here to answer to another series of traffic charges, based on the same Princeton-to-Plainsboro chase.

Wayman's mad dash began on Nassau Street and continued down Washington Road, then into Plainsboro, where he jumped from one car to a second vehicle and allegedly attempted to run down Patrolman Kopliner. He eventually came to a sudden stop after racing out of Plainsboro, roaring across the dangerous Plainsboro Road-Route 1 intersection, hurdling the dividing island and crashing into a tree. He suffered a fractured leg in the accident.

Seminary Commencement Tuesday. Princeton Theological Seminary will hold its 145th annual commencement exercises Tuesday morning at 10:30 in the Princeton University Chapel. Dr. John A. Mackay, President of the Seminary, will deliver an address of farewell to the graduates. Dr. H. Canine Little, pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church in California and a 1929 alumnus, will give a major address on "The Ministry of Grace." He is also currently president of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church.

The invocation will be presented by Dr. Peter K. Emmons of Scranton, continued on the Seminary board of trustees, and the benediction will be pronounced by Dr. C. Hale Bucher, pastor of the New Brunswick Presbyterian Church. Dr. Charles Leber and

Miss Elizabeth Campbell

Holyoke Grant Winner Named. The Trenton-Princeton Mount Holyoke Club has designated a Trenton girl, Elizabeth Campbell, as its annual scholarship recipient. Under the terms of the grant, the Emily Dickinson Scholarship, the Trenton Central High senior may study for four years through its assistance.

The club has elected two new officers. The new Mrs. Paul Orr of Fraxine Line Road, vice-president, and Mrs. Henry Martin of 85 North Stanworth Drive, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Eugene C. Blake will conduct short prayers.

Seminary Choir to Swing South. Following Tuesday's commencement exercises, the all-male Princeton Seminary Choir will head south on its 12th annual summer tour. Under the direction of David H. Jones, the choir will perform twice a day in 11 southeastern states and for West Indies countries.

Dr. Jones, a music professor at the Seminary who was also a charter member of the Westminster Choir College faculty, has lined up a diversified repertoire containing many prominent choral works of Palestrina, Lotti, Bach, Handel, Haydn and Mendelssohn together with a smattering of traditional folk songs. The choir will spend five weeks in the South before island-hopping to Cuba, Haiti, the Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico.

This is by no means the first time the choir has journeyed to far-flung locations. Other summer trips have taken them to Alaska, Hawaii, Mexico, Guatemala, Canada, Japan and Korea. The choir has presented more than 2,200 concerts outside of Princeton where it normally sings three times every Sunday during the academic year. The Choir has appeared in 1,700 churches during its 25-year existence and has also performed on radio and television.

Clowns, Indians to Entertain. A Seneca Indian chief and a group of clowns will highlight the Princeton Hospital Fete's program for children at the Westminster Choir College on Saturday, June 8. Chief Halftown, a TV personality, will be on hand all day, from 11 a.m. until closing, to amuse the youngsters. Attired in full regalia, the Indian patriarch will join his young audience in the gallery as the Trenton Clown Club presents a 2½-hour variety show at 11 a.m. The serial acts will include an 11-piece band known as the Rhythmairs, two specialty dancers and a baton twirler.

During the afternoon, Chief Halftown will keep things going with games, story-telling sessions and a bubble-gum contest. His sidekicks, Johnny Johnson and Jimmy LaMar, will also perform acts of their own.

Throughout the proceedings, Boy Scouts will supervise the children while adults visit other parts of the Fete. Baby-sitters will shepherd their five-year-olds in a specially-constructed corral.

Circus in Town. The Hunt Brothers Circus will give two performances in Princeton Saturday, June 1. A matinee will start at 2 p.m., and an evening performance will be held at 8 p.m., both in the Shopping Center's parking lot.

Robertson and John Dobbins were presented with emblems for their work.

The troop has also named four members as the best campers of the year, designating them as candidates for the Order of the Arrow. Those selected were Tom Renshaw, Hoyt Masterson, Dickon Baker and Duncan Jay.

ASCOP Expands. The Applied Science Corporation of Princeton this week opened a new Western District Office building in Van Nuys, Calif. The 10,000 square foot air-conditioned building will permit expansion of ASCOP's west coast operation, which was initiated in 1953.

ASCOP is the leading producer of data gathering and processing systems that use the principle of time division in the rapid and simultaneous transmission of a large amount of information over a single circuit. The company engages in research, engineering and manufacturing of these systems and tailors them to fit the requirements of customers.

The district office, currently located in Los Angeles, will continue to serve as a center for ASCOP sales, engineering and product service. Frank H. Clarke, Western Engineering Section head of the firm, is supervising expansion.

Cub Scouts Hold Field Day. Den 11 won the track meet at Cub Scout Pack 50's recent annual Field Day on Brookaw Field. Each member of the den received a ticket to a University baseball game. Den 6 received prizes after having been elected den of the year.

Scouts receiving individual awards were: Ward Jandi, John Willis, Lennart Nelson, Philip Sherwood, Morris Bailey, John Carafa, John McKinney and Carl Suk. Service stars were given to 34 members of the pack. Cubmaster Peter Gardner made the awards. The last meeting of the pack for this year will be a picnic at Washington Crossing Park on June 7.

A.A.U.W. Name Leaders. The Princeton branch of the American Association of University Women, recently approved by the A.A.U.W. state board of directors, has elected a full slate of officers. Mrs. Albert B. Mueller was chosen president.

Mrs. Oren Williams will serve as vice-president. Other new officers are Mrs. Lynn B. Mann, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Kimball, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sylvan Forman, recording secretary, and Mrs. Frank Stover, membership chairman.

revised edition of the Township plan showing the district's road system and rights-of-way will be explained to the public at an open meeting of the Planning board on Monday.

The new map supercedes the 1949 edition. A copy is on display in Township Hall and others are available at 75 cents.

Chapin Plans Sports Day. The Chapin School will hold its annual sports day on Tuesday on the school grounds. David Hudnut, a Princeton University senior, will supervise the activities.

Basketball throws, relay races, brood jumps, a peanut scramble and baseball are slated. A picnic lunch will be served to students and their parents after the baseball game.

Junior Faculty Wives Elect. Mrs. John Thomas has been elected president of the Junior Faculty Wives club. A luncheon honoring the retiring and incoming officers was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas in Plainboro.

Other new officers are: Mrs. Robert Bass, vice-president; Mrs. Julien Sholevsky, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wallace H. McCurdy, recording secretary; Mrs. John Freely, treasurer; Mrs. Frank T. Frost, Jr., chairman; and Mrs. John Well, membership chairman.

New chairman of the Interest groups are: Mrs. Shaw Levermore, novels; Mrs. Robert McNeal, plays; Mrs. Carroll Allan, D. S. Shakespeare; Mrs. Albert Hood, arts and crafts; and Mrs. Martin Siegel, music.

Boat Brith Holds Party. A luncheon will be held by the B'nai B'rith Women of Princeton on Tuesday, June 11, at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Jean Schembiano, 121 Magnolia Lane. A short business meeting will be held and entertainment has been planned. Mrs. Leon Goldberg and Mrs. William Horan will be hostesses for the party which will be the last of the season.

A theater party has been planned for June 19 to attend "The Pajama Game" at Lansburyville. Anyone interested in tickets is asked to contact Mrs. Merrill Zinder, 1-2118. Mrs. Zinder will also be chairman of Tag Week from June 10 to 15. Funds collected will be used to maintain the veterans program, non-sectarian hospitals, youth guidance and the Israel program.

Dogs Graduate. The Princeton Dog Training Club has held its graduation exercises at Miss Fine's School gymnasium. Mrs. Sandra Maxwell of Edgerstone Road won second prize in the beginners' class with her Dandie Dimond.

Other graduates of the beginners class include: Mrs. Robert Ayers, 23 Allison Road, pointer; Mrs. James Hitler, Autumn Road, pointer; Debra Shipway, Mount Lacey Road, pointer; Sidney Housh, Route 1, springer spaniel; E. A. Downs, Meadow Road, pointer; Dail Archer, 25 Wiggin Street, dachshund; Elizabeth Prince, Pretty Brook Road, wirehaired terrier; P. W. Pretzfelder, 130 Longview Drive, boxer; J. B. Schmidt, Jr., Carter Road, boxer; Douglas Blackie, Edgerstone Road, Great Dane; Miss Clara lette Stetson, Drakes Corner Road, collie; Mrs. Paul Bonerref, 115 Spruce Street, pointer; and Miss Penny Griswold, 291 Russell Road, dachshund.

Graduates of the intermediate class include: Mrs. Donald S. Bond, Snowden Lane, boxer; Mrs. A. M. Niese, 7 Deepart, dachshund; Mrs. A. D. Hutcheson, Carter Road, bloodhound; Victor Davis, North Road, Bassett Hound; and Edward Lyden, 409-A Butler Avenue, boxer.

The next series of classes will begin in the fall and will be announced early in September. The graduation exercises marked the end of the club's year.

Builders Complete Job. The architect-builder team of Palmer and Bowers and Lewis C. Bowers and Sons, Inc. of Princeton has just completed the design and construction of a new 238,000 square foot distribution center in New York City for the Francis H. Leggett Company. The entire operation was executed and supervised under the two firms' unique one-responsibility contract system.

The Bronx site, an eighty-city block area, presented a number of problems to the design-construction team. Because of its proximity to markets, however, it proved an ideal building for the Leggett company.

The area developed was an unused railroad yard formerly being submitted to the New York Central. Subterranean structure, street dedications, land and rehabilitation and merchandise flow problems were some of the many difficulties encountered in the project.

Hadassah Picks New Officers. Mrs. Milton Horowitz has been elected president of the Princeton chapter of Hadassah for the coming year. Mrs. Horowitz and other new officers were installed at a ceremony conducted in the home of Mrs. Harold Starns.

The new leaders also include Mrs. Robert Sauber, first vice-president and membership chairman; Mrs. Harold Starns, second vice-president and fund-raising coordinator; Mrs. Aaron Solkin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Aaron Newman, recording secretary and Mrs. Milton Hersh, treasurer.

Observing its tenth anniversary, the Princeton chapter honored six of its past presidents with pins. Mrs. William Herf, liaison representative from the regional Hadassah, presented pins to Mrs. Leonard Hymelring, Mrs. Irving Alexander, Mrs. Jerome Shaffer, Mrs. Jerome Kurshan, Mrs. Thomas Stix and Mrs. Irvin Glassman.

TRAPPED: Harry Kinnell, golf pro at the Springdale course, is cornered by a Town Topics reporter as he attempts to blast out of a sand trap on Springdale's 18th hole. In an effort to get a wide variety of opinion on this week's Question of the Week (see box), Town Topics reporters roamed from downtown to the golf course sampling public opinion. For the results, see below. (Photo by Alan Richards)

Question of the Week

Question: If you had the opportunity to ask Town Topics' Question of the Week, what would you ask?

Location: Around Town.

Harry Kinnell, 26 College Road, professional at the Springdale Golf Course and Princeton University's golfing coach: Do you think Ike will get what he is asking for in the way of a budget? There is such a fight going on in Washington right now that I think this is an important question. Even those who have supported Eisenhower in the past are turning against him on this issue. I think it is a real test of his personal popularity. There is also involved the issue of whether or not Congress can overcome the question of politics concerning the budget. It almost seems like they have an "economy complex" in Washington. For myself, I think he should get what he's asking for; after all, if you can't trust the President, whom can you trust?

Peter Paine, Rhodes Scholar-elect at Princeton University from New York City: One of the burning questions of our contemporary situation is why did Mrs. McGowan send Dondi (her alien comic strip "Dondi" off to boarding school? This may sound like a juvenile question, but it should cast light on the family problems facing all of us who were sent to boarding school. I attended St. Paul's School myself, and I think boarding school is a very good thing for all. I do think, however, that parents sending their children to boarding schools can create a number of emotional problems.

W. F. Kerr Jr., 18 Pelham Avenue, automotive dealer: I would like to know if anyone knows why first class mail rates have to be increased. Right now first class mail is carrying all of the other classes. And there's so much trash sent through the other classes that it puts the first class rates up too high. It seems to me that the Post Office ought to equalize the rates so that each class pays for itself.

Mrs. Jane Snedeker, 67 West Broad Street, Hopewell, Decia's receptionist in Princeton: I have often wondered why the streets and sidewalks in town were not kept clean. Working in a doctor's office I hear a number of comments from people who live in this area and ones who live out of town about the messiness of

Shoe Changes Feet

Ever since the inauguration of its weekly feature, Question of the Week, Town Topics has attempted to keep abreast of area opinion with a regular sampling by staff members. Topics for the Question have ranged from highly controversial local, national and international issues to lighter concerns such as the effects of "spring fever" and "who would you rather be if you weren't yourself?"

The task of coming up with a topical question each week can be quite a chore, especially while under the influence of such natural hindrances to work as spring fever. Then, too, hardly a week goes by but that some reader asks us his own question: "Why did you ask that question this week?" This week, in an effort to give members of the community a chance to see what they feel are the important questions aired and also in an attempt to see what controversies are foremost in the public mind, Town Topics asked residents for the questions they would ask if given opportunity to ask the Question of the Week. For the results of the query, ranging from Princeton's long-standing parking problems to issue of great importance for comic strip readers, see elsewhere on this page.

the downtown areas. There seems to be quite a bit of paper, trash and that sort of thing littering up the streets. Maybe the shop keepers along Nassau Street could help by taking more responsibility in the matter, maybe even by keeping the space in front of their establishments a little cleaner. I also think the Borough government could help push such a thing through. After all, it is really everybody's responsibility.

William Yeoman, 17 Manning Lane, Lawrenceville, of Yeoman Liquor Store: What could be done to alleviate the Borough's parking problems? I am a member of the Princeton Business Association and we are trying to educate the public to the fact that better parking facilities would benefit the shopper as much as the businessman. After all, the shoppers need a place to

MUSIC In Princeton

NEW BAND PLANNED

Music for the Community. If the efforts of an 18-year-old Princetonian are successful, Princeton will have a Community Band this summer with upwards of 40 members giving free concerts on the lawn in front of Nassau Hall.

Hard at work planning the organization is Bruce McKinley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. McKinley of the Great Road. His mother is widely known here as a pianist, composer and teacher.

Pointing out that "there is no musical organization active in Princeton during the summer," Bruce has already discussed his project with some 40 students of high school and college age, as well as a number of adult musicians. He has found virtually unanimous belief that there is a real place for a concert band here, since it will not only provide an opportunity for its members to play in the summer months but will give Princeton "the kind of musical recreation pleasantly associated with New England communities in the village square."

Permission has been obtained from the University to hold three concerts in front of Nassau Hall, a popular location for musical entertainment since the days of senior singing before the war. Music libraries of both the high school and Princeton hands have been placed on loan with the new organization.

Concert Dates Set. Tentative concert dates are three Sunday afternoons (July 14, August 4 and 25) but there is a possibility that at least one weekday evening will be substituted. Rehearsals will start after the high school closes next month, with everyone interested invited to attend.

Financing naturally still exists as a problem, with funds between $150 and $200 expected to be sufficient to meet all expenses. Included is the cost of room for rehearsal at the high school, the rental of a public address system and a modest publicity budget. An effort will be made to obtain a contribution from the Borough Council to meet a part of the expenses.

Assisting Bruce, a high school alumnus who is now a freshman at Princeton, are Peter Woodrow, Kenneth Rogers, Roger Morgan and Robert Hoyer, all residents of the community. Assistance from those interested in aiding the project in any way (including contributions) may be volunteered through a call to Bruce McKinley at 6987.

Others aligned with the Concert Band as prospective members include Robert MacNamee, Ralph Stroup, Philip North, George Hunt, Jack Orr, Malcolm Fry, Rolf Herwig, Winslow Martin, Virginia Moore, Roger Wells, April Hite, William Dix, Charlotte Slider, Robert Everson, David Patterson, Sandy Wolf, Margaret Burdill, Susan Miller.

park so they can get their shopping done. Maybe the University could provide some of the off-street parking space they have been promising. Whatever the solution, I think this issue should definitely be aired.

Mrs. A. T. Mason, 8 Edgell Street, teacher and housewife: I think I would ask what should be done about the proposed reservoir on Stony Brook. There are so many sides and opinions involved in that issue that I think it should receive more consideration. I think we should know whether or not there is a majority favoring the reservoir. It is certainly an interesting subject for this community and I think it should be aired in order to get both sides of the issue.

Mrs. E. C. Bleicher, 11 Craven Lane, Lawrenceville, housewife: I think the parking problem is the big problem in the Princeton community. I'd like suggestions for providing more parking space. I live in Lawrenceville, but I shop here and that's my biggest "irk." You feel obliged to go to the shopping center even though you may want to shop at some of the stores in downtown Princeton just because you know that there you will have a place to put your car. If there were just more area in which to park, I think you would have more shoppers from out of town.

A Dog Writes.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
First I want to say thank you. I had a lovely day at the Country Day School Fair. Of course, I knew I did not have a chance to be picked.

I almost knew that before I got there, but I was quite sure when I saw I was under the huge fall of fluffy, baby kittens and not far off from the pen where the fat, pudgy, Staniel puppies and the Beagle (everyone was talking about him) were penned. But the sun was warm and lots of children with gentle hands squatted by me and patted me on that spot that makes me want to rich, restrained myself.

I did not even wag my tail much, although I wanted to so badly. I just looked into all the eyes that looked into mine and hoped they would see that I wanted a home more than any of those others.

You see, I was old enough to know what it was not to have one. I was old enough to know how gentle I had to be with small children or even other pets. I was also old enough to know that between me and the fat, cuddly ones who looked more like their parents than I did that there would be no choice, but I had so much to give.

I would not have to be trained not to jump on the small ones or argue with friends or neighbors. I would take care of my family and be so proud to be part of it.

If only I had not been so funny looking, sort of half-size and with a longish coat and ears that flopped. I think my mother was a collie and perhaps my father a spaniel but surely they were nice people because I can honestly say I have never had a mean thought in all my life.

Well, enough about me. I only wanted to say thanks for the warm, friendly and soft hands of the children, and the very small chance I had to find some people of my own, the best bit of freedom. You see—they only keep you for a week or so before they have to put us to sleep.

I guess I am an optimist. Maybe there is still someone who does not care what I look like and that I am a little over-age, about a year and a half maybe—long past the chewing age if that's any help. There is a place on the Small Animal Rescue League, 2293. There isn't much time left. Thanks again.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
Several people have contacted me about the letter I wrote to the Pennsylvania Railroad suggesting a stop on Sunday of one of their early afternoon trains at Princeton Junction (Town Topics, May 12-18).

I am glad to give you the company's answer.

KARL ASCHAFENBURG
22 Morgan Place
Dear Mr. Aschaffenburg:

This is further in reference to your letter of April 30 regarding the suggestion for a stop at Princeton Junction of one of our trains about 1 P. M. on Sundays, about which Acting Manager, Passenger Train Service Wilson wrote you on May 1.

It is our pleasure to inform you that the train leaving Pennsylvania Station, New York at 12 noon Daylight Saving Time will stop at Princeton Junction on Sundays as well as the other days of the week, effective May 26.

We hope that this will give you the service you desire.

J. B. DORRANCE,

"The Issue Is Survival."

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
For many years Decoration Day has been dedicated to the memory of soldiers killed in combat. For many years devoted wives, mothers, women, and children have decorated the thousands of graves throughout the country in honor of the ultimate sacrifice made by our soldiers in past wars. This year, as the world is engaged in building stockpiles of weapons far more deadly than ever before, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom suggests that an even greater honor be paid to the memory of those men. We suggest that all women unite in a sincere and serious effort to end warfare. These countless thousands will not have died in vain if—because of their sacrifice—women everywhere would pay their debt of gratitude by working together in a supreme effort to prevent war.

In the past, wars have been cruelly destructive. But at least there was some measure of safety for the civilian population. Today, with our nuclear weapons and intercontinental ballistics, there can be only one outcome: utter destruction.

The issue is survival—for us and for the generations yet unborn. Let us dedicate this day in tribute to our honored dead, but let us dedicate our lives to working for a world where there are no wars and where our children can live in peace.

"Builder" Has New Defender.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The "smugness" of your criticism of "The Master Builder," which Dr. Hubler points out, persists in your comment on his letter. No comment on my part meant indifference to your critic's irresponsibility, not to the fine piece of work done by Mrs. Maloney and her inspired cast of young actors.

RE: Traffic Control at Fires.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Your issue of last week reports the conviction, in the Township Court, of two persons for disregarding the orders of a traffic officer at a fire. It would be most improper for one to criticize the decision of the Court in this regard, certainly without knowledge of any of the circumstances.

However, the suggestion of the magistrate that other such cases should be brought into court, prompt me to the following observations. One evening last winter, the fire alarm was sounded for a fire on the University Campus.

I am responsible for the custody of some irreplaceable documents in my office in Reunion Hall, and therefore, when a campus fire occurs, it is up to me to see that they are preserved from damage or destruction. Driving in between the Church and Alexander Hall, I was stopped by a civilian wearing a red torch, who wanted to know "Where the H— I thought I was going."

He was wearing nothing whatever to indicate that he was vested with any authority whatever, so naturally, I asked him "Who the H— he thought he was", thinking he was some "Meddlesome Muttie" who was just bunting in. This led to one of those rather silly altercations, with my demanding that he show me some proof of authority to order me around.

After considerable objection on his part, he produced from the back pocket of his pants, a badge which did show that he was a fireman assigned to police duty. Of course, as so often happens, an amicable discussion followed.

My point is this. Our fire department does a fine job, and the assignment of police and traffic duty to some of the men is most desirable. No responsible citizen will fail to obey orders from a man showing his authority to issue them.

Neither will any self respecting citizen take orders from someone who apparently has no right whatever to give them. Possibly the above case was an isolated instance, but also possibly not.

I would not suggest for a moment that our firemen be required to don a uniform when called out, before they be permitted to undertake traffic regulation. That would be absurd.

But it is a matter of a few seconds (as I know from my experience as an auxiliary policeman in another city during the war) to pin a badge or some other indication of one's authority on a jacket or coat. People, generally speaking, will respect any such indication of authority, but will resent what seem like unauthorized orders.

If it is not already SOP of the Department, I should like to suggest that it be made so. I believe that such identification would reduce, if not eliminate, the cases the magistrate seemed to have in mind, where there appears to be an apparent disregard of what are gently lawful instructions and orders.

SHE DOES IT HERSELF
Top Drawer Craftsman. Every housewife has, at some time or other, gone to a rummage sale and spent a dollar for a chest, lugged it home and spent $25 on paint, remover, wax and elbow grease trying to make it look like Hepplewhite.

Do-it-yourselfers who attend the antiques auction at the Princeton Hospital Fete on June 8 will have a chance to see the work of an amateur furniture re-finisher who could be a pro if she wanted to. She is Mrs. Howard Menand of 140 Hodge Road, who has re-finished all the 30 pieces of furniture that will be auctioned at the Fete. Incidentally, she did all 30 pieces in two and one-half months.)

A visit to Mrs. Menand in her basement workshop reveals that she is much more than a lady with paint remover in one hand and linseed oil in the other. She is a first-class craftsman who has put together chairs, tables, desks and tables that were tossed out as irreparable.

Pointing to a massive mahogany flat-top desk 38 by 60 inches (every drawer in this one is solid mahogany) she said as casually as though she had just sewn on a button, "I had to make four new feet for that one." She also put new veneer on the drawers, re-hung the doors and repaired the lock.

A small side chest (dovely inlay work around the drawer) was so eaten by termites that all the veneer had to be re-done. Mrs. Menand did a major job of plastic surgery on a heavy Chippendale chair whose broken legs had to be set and whose back fret-work had to be rebuilt almost from scratch. You have to peer at the chair in a strong light to see where Mrs. Menand has made the joinings and done the repair.

She learned her craftsmanship from her father, the late Walter W. Colpitts, an amateur artisan who spent much of his spare time in his workshop. From him, she learned the skills that enable her to construct, not only pedestals for a heavy desk, but also tooth-pick-size hangings for her collection of miniature Hitchcock chairs about four inches high. These ex-

OVER THE FINISH LINE: Mrs. Howard Menand gives the final, loving, touch to the satin finish of an antique mahogany cradle that she has repaired and refurbished for the Antiques Auction at the Princeton Hospital Fete to be held next Saturday. quisite little pieces will not be part of the auction, but they illustrate vividly the precise workmanship that has gone into the auction furniture.

One of the pieces turned over to Mrs. Menand is a three-quarter antique bed of solid cedar. She removed the finish down to the wood and has treated it with wax. A pretty little Swedish tilt-top table, painted with typical figures and flowers, responded to a scrubbing with soap and water. A Victorian rocker had to have its springs retied and the crotch mahogany sleigh bed needed refinishing and repair.

On one piece, a broken-down rocker, Mrs. Menand had the luck that every re-finisher hopes for. She repaired—almost rebuilt—the chair, and then began to remove the layers of dark and ancient varnish. As she did so, she began to uncover a lovely light mahogany and when she reached the bare wood, she found exquisite inlay work in a delicate geometric design with a center of mother-of-pearl.

SUMMER PLAYGROUNDS

Recreation Program Planned. The annual summer recreation program of the Princeton Playgrounds Committee will be conducted from July 1 to August 23 this year, according to William N. Smyth, committee chairman. The Playgrounds Committee, an agency of the United Community Fund, is financed by the fund, the Borough and the Township.

During the eight-week period of the program, the playgrounds and wading pools will be in operation each day, Monday through Friday, under adult supervision. Staff hours will be 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at all playgrounds and 1 to 5 p.m. at the wading pools.

Two new playgrounds will be opened this summer at the sites of the Littlebrook and Valley Road Schools. The Township Board of Education has made these playgrounds possible. The latter area will replace the Witherspoon Playground, which has been conducted for a number of years on lower Witherspoon Street.

In addition to the new areas, playgrounds will be located at Harrison Street, Park, Marquand Park, the High School field and Jagtown Field on Erdman Avenue. There will also be a small, unsupervised park at the corner of Chestnut and Hamilton Streets intended for small children accompanied by parents. Wading pools will be located on John Street, Pine Street, at the Harrison Street Playground and at Jagtown Field.

The Borough and Township engineering departments are currently undertaking renovation of the playground sites. The playgrounds will also organize the Community Junior Baseball League and the Championship Tennis Tournaments. The Tournaments will begin June 17 and continue into early August for the adult championships.

Officers and members of the Playgrounds Committee include the following: Howard B. Waxwood Jr. and Ellis G. Willard, vice chairman; Francis G. Clark, secretary; John C. Yonon, treasurer; Mrs. Charles W. Link, honorary chairman; John R. Arscott, Dr. Paul B. Chesbro, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Davis, Charles A. Hurford, Delmar Lipp, Robert D. McCarthy, Joseph W. Miller Jr., I. Russell Riker, Mrs. Oscar Sussman, Mrs. A. G. Akerlof and Robert C. Schmidt.

Ad Agency Comes Here. R. W. Westervelt and Company, formerly of New York City and Trenton, will become Princeton's first formal advertising agency with the establishment of offices here June 1. They will be in the First National Bank Building, 90 Nassau Street.

The new agency currently serves some 40 clients in the industrial, commercial and institutional fields in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Among its clients in this area are Princeton Theological Seminary, the Nassau Oil Company and Lewis MOVES AD AGENCY HERE: Richard W. Westervelt has established the advertising agency bearing his name in First National Bank offices.

C. Bowers and Sons, Inc.

"Probably the chief factor in our decision to locate permanently in Princeton is its ideal central location," Richard W. Westervelt, agency director, said. "Certainly no municipality in New Jersey provides a better center from which to serve our clients in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania."

County Fair Planned. The annual Griggstown County Fair sponsored by the community's volunteer fire company, will be held all day Saturday, June 15, at the fair grounds in Griggstown. Governor Robert B. Meyner and Senator Malcolm Forbes, Republican candidate for governor, are among those invited to attend.

Fair plans include a square dance contest of a queen of the fair, special exhibits by local and national manufacturers, an egg-throwing contest and a variety of novelty events. A Dixieland jazz band will provide music during the afternoon and evening.

John Langfeldt Jr. has been named coordinator of all fair activities. Those assisting with the arrangements include Roy Peters, Lloyd Van Doren, Arthur Carroll, Magnus Madsen, Sigurd Berven, Arne Rosfjord, John Langfeldt Sr., David Smith, Douglas Brown, Herbert Bergstrom, Leroy Strassburger, Andrew Mack, Torilf Rosfjord, David Kleiber, William Graeber, Percy Bartlett, George Rightmire.

Also: John Tanosch, John Rightmire, Robert Steats, Robert Bjelke, Raymond Berven, Edward Tornquist Sr., Roy Birkland, Sverre Skeate, Edward Tornquist Jr., Kenneth Herrmann, Arthur Carroll, Steven V. Kady, John Wilton, James Henry, Don Rock-nak and James Byron.

Armour Donates Prize. Ambassador Norman Armour, first recipient of Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson Award for his activities "in the nation's service," has presented his cash award of $1,000 to the University. It was announced this week by President Harold W. Dodds. The award with its accompanying cash prize was made at the February Alumni Day exercises.

The gift will be added to the endowment of the DeWitt Clinton Poole Memorial Prize Scholarships established in memory of Mr. Poole, a career diplomat and first director of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at the University. The Wilson School administers the fund.

A member of the class of 1909, Mr. Armour is a former Alumni Trustee of the university. He has served in Vienna, Rome, Brussels, Paris, Petrograd, the Far East and South America.

Wildfire at Princeton. A preview showing of split-level homes being built on Riverside Drive in Princeton is currently being held at the lake-side development site. Two of the eight-room homes are now on public display.

Priced from $33,500, the houses are being built on lots of one-half acre and more, including some lake-front sites. The development, which contains a large wooded area, is known as Wildfire-at-Princeton.

Each of the four-bedroom homes being built features three full bathrooms. There are also over-sized dropped living rooms, large separate dining rooms and center hallways. Living rooms contain 12-foot picture windows.

Baseboard hot-water heating systems are employed throughout and each house is equipped with a two-car garage. The P-Y Construction Corporation is building the homes, which were designed by Stanley J. Stittell, architect. They are being sold through the Dew Realty Co. (L-8763).

LOOK FOR ANOTHER BIG YEAR: Just elected to serve as officers of the much-praised Teen Ganteen for the year ahead, these four Princeton High School students met this week to map 1957-58 plans. This past year, their organization—composed of 700-plus teenagers—conducted dances every Saturday night at the Nassau Street School, attended by an average of 300 members and guests, and also sponsored other teenage activities. On the agenda for the future: possible dances during the summer months. The officers (left to right): Gerdianna Day, treasurer; John Reed, vice-president; Ann Kennerly, secretary; and Robert Speedy, president. (Richards Photo) on Saturday, they will continue through August 31.

Summer hours involve a 1 p.m. closing on Saturdays. Mrs. Gottschalk has advised all those planning to be out of town during summer vacations to consult the library's vacation reading plan.

Hospital Auxiliary Elects. Mrs. David Miller of Russell Road has been elected president of the Princeton Hospital Women's Auxiliary for the coming year. She will coordinate the efforts of 175 volunteers who compiled a total of 10,926 hours of service last year, according to the organization's recently compiled statistics.

Other new officers include Mrs. George Cook, Jr., vice-president; Mrs. J. William Seder, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Sheenan, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Smyth, treasurer, and Mrs. Harold J. Saum, member-at-large. The Auxiliary also selected Mrs. Walton Butterfoss to head the nominating committee which includes Mrs. C. C. Martineff, Mrs. George Conover, Mrs. L. W. Hicks and Mrs. J. H. Dillon.

Tax Consultant Opens Office. Jay D. Cook, a Certified Public Accountant, has opened an office in the First National Bank Building to serve as general financial and tax consultant.

A former treasurer of the R.C.A. Manufacturing Company, Mr. Cook has been active in the financial field with regard to industrial and tax applications. He most recently was treasurer and director of Horizons, Inc.

New Club Leaders. Lawrence Buttoffs has been named president of the new Cub Scout Committee for District 72. Other officers are K. E. Wakefield, treasurer, and Robert McQuade, secretary.

Other members of the committee include Mrs. Mortimer Feldman, field secretary; Stanley S. Siech, Cubmaster; Robert J. Anderson, ex-Cubmaster; George Callaghan, assistant Cubmaster; and R. W. Quakes, institutional representative.

The following Cub Scouts have been awarded advancement insignia during the past month: Lawrence Butterfoss, Scott An-

Advisory Arts Committee. Eleven women from the Princeton area attended the 27th annual meeting of the central New Jersey advisory committee of the State Museum last week in Llewellyn Park. The committee is comprised of representatives of 22 communities.

Those attending the meeting were: Miss Eleanor Bowman, Mrs. Walter Edge, Jr., Dale Dilworth, Mrs. Samuel M. Hamill, Edward L. Katsenbach, Miss Emma L. Martin, Mrs. Frederick M. Raubinger and Mrs. Laurence B. Webster of Princeton; Mrs. R. George Kuser of Lawrenceville and Mrs. Paul J. Ralph and Mrs. Russell H. Mook of Pennington.

Dodds to Study Presidencies. Dr. Harold W. Dodds, whose 24 years as president of Princeton University ends this June, will direct a study of the office of college and university presidents following his retirement. The study will be sponsored by Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, a group whose board of trustees is composed chiefly of college and university presidents.

The study, which will begin January 1 of next year in New York City, will be administered by the Institute for College and University Administrators in Boston. In conducting the study Dr. Dodds will visit a number of campuses for meetings with presidents, deans, faculty members and members of boards of trustees.

"In announcing the grant, John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Foundation, asserted that 'there is no class of executives in the country who would quit so hard to please as many of our public as the college or university.'"

Sorry! No Vacancies!

This must not happen here! But Princeton Hospital needs YOUR help if we are to avoid such a situation

It was only a few years ago, before the building of the new wing, that patients' beds lined the hall for lack of adequate space. Now we are almost at that point again. The Hospital has not had to turn away the critically ill, the injured, the desperate. But it HAS had to say "sorry" to non-critical cases on many occasions, sometimes as often as twenty times a day. Princeton Hospital faces a dangerous shortage of beds.

The Hospital is meeting this emergency. Already 54 beds are being added, which by early next year will help the Hospital to keep pace with the community's needs.

Why are more beds needed? Princeton's phenomenal growth is the answer. Last year one out of every six patients admitted to the Hospital had lived in or around Princeton for less than five years, and many of them for less than three. But old or new, Princeton residents will need hospital care—the best there is—and Princeton Hospital must be prepared to give it.

In December 1956 the Trustees of the Hospital, realizing the urgency of the need, approved the immediate construction of the badly-needed beds and made an appeal to the community for $491,000 to finance the addition. From Gerard B. Lambert, long-time Princeton resident and a most generous benefactor of Princeton Hospital in the past, came a pledge of $100,000 if the the rest of the townspeople would raise the balance by January 1, 1958.

GUIDE FOR GIVING

When the new addition is complete, Princeton Hospital will have:

195 BEDS

To meet minimum standards a community must have:

1 HOSPITAL BED FOR EACH 250 PEOPLE

The total cost will be:

$14,800 PER BED

Then the cost for each individual will be $14,800.00 divided by 250 persons or:

$59.20

$59.20 times the number of persons in a family is that family's share of the cost of having hospital facilities available when they need them. This is true even if one has Blue Cross or other insurance because it pays only for expenses. It does not include anything for building.

We have come a long way toward that goal, but not far enough. The Hospital does not plan a house-to-house canvass. This is its way of asking you to do your part to help Princeton Hospital give the community the best service possible. In making your contribution we suggest that you study the Guide for Giving and use the convenient form below.

THE GOLDEN (MEDAL) GREEK: Nick Kovalakides, Princeton High's record-breaking track captain, exhibits his most formidable weapon—the javelin. He's hoping for an unprecedented third straight triumph in the javelin event at the state championships this Saturday. For details, see Sports in Princeton. (Photo by Alan Richards)

MEDALS AND RECORDS

Next: State Titles. Five short springs ago, track-lover Irwin W. Weiss, physical education director for Princeton grade schools, called a fast-growing 12-year-old aside during sports hour and told the youth he ought to take up javelin-throwing. "I didn't believe him," Nick Kovalakides reminisced this week, "so I went ahead and did what I had planned to do for a long time. I played freshman baseball when I got to Princeton High the following spring."

But the Weiss suggestion stuck in Kovalakides' mind throughout that season of baseball, especially at times when the young man considered his future on the diamond of dubious promise. He weighed the matter often and long, and finally realizing that he would be able to play plenty of ball during the summers (which he still does—and quite well), Kovalakides switched to the FHS track team in the spring of 1955.

Bigger-than-average for his age (at 17, he now stands 6 feet 3 inches and weighs an even 200 pounds), Kovalakides took to javelin-tossing as a duck takes to water, just as Coach Weiss foresaw. His timing and "natural motion proved near-perfect for the precision-demanding event and, along with his body strength, turned out to be a wonderful combination. It was a lucky break for FHS, too, for the school's track talent became a mite scarce all of a sudden and the big boy gave Blue and White followers something to cheer about.

Nick, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kovalakides, 242 Nassau Street, began winning javelin medals right from the start, so, in order to make his track time more profitable (and, incidentally, bolster FHS in the field events), Coach Win Niles induced his muscular sophomore to try the discus as well. Senior Sal Delnesso, the squad's No. 1 weights man when the 1955 campaign commenced, taught the newcomer a great deal about both events—and looked on in amazement, as an also-ran, when Kovalakides heaved the javelin 169 feet 3 inches to grab the state championship in that event.

Added: the Shot Put. Big Nick broke the FHS javelin mark on several occasions during his junior year and, despite a rainstorm that made the going slippery underneath, managed to repeat as New Jersey's top javelin performer last June. He also mastered the shot put, again at Niles' request, and "tripped frequently by winning all three of his events. "Naturally, I've enjoyed breaking—Continued on Page 24 the records and racking up the triples." Kovalakides confided during a recent practice session, "but my greatest thrill was earning the state javelin title as a sophomore."

This Saturday, at Rutgers University, Kovalakides will shoot for his third consecutive javelin crown in the state championship meet and also will try his hand at the discus and shot. Off his showings so far this season, including a toss of 206 feet 10 inches (second-longest throw of the spring for an American schoolboy) and another of 206 feet 6 inches (to establish a new Central Jersey standard), he should take the javelin event going away. He probably won't come close to the top in the shot, but he may well "double" with a victory in the discus.

"An awful lot depends on my timing," the Little Tiger track captain observed as he worked hard this week in preparation for the final meet of the season. "I missed a few days' practice and a meet two weeks ago, and what happened? My timing was off and I finished second in the javelin against Hamilton High. What's worse, my father came out to see me throw it for the first time that day. I doubt if he was very impressed."

By last Saturday, Kovalakides, virtually a one-man team, got back in the swing of things at Ashbury Park, scene of the Central Jersey championships. He won the javelin with the above-mentioned record pitch, the shot with a put of 51 feet 2 inches and the discus with a throw of 149 feet 6½ inches the latter an eye-raising toss which sent the spinning disc into the nearby lake. Princeton's 10-year domination of the class II ranks came to an unhappy end, as the fourth-place Little Tigers totaled only 25 points behind victorious Nanauquan's 44, but Capt.

Kovalakides mustered 15 by himself.

Ambition: New Mark. "Nick really comes up when the chips are down," Coach Niles said in recognition of his team leader's contributions last weekend. "He's the best high school thrower I've ever seen." The coach declined to comment on Kovalakides' chance of cracking the state scholastic javelin record of 211 feet, held by Lou Enos of Montclair High (who also owns the Princeton University mark, two feet shy of Kovalakides' PBs standard), but he didn't say it was impossible, what with the Little Tiger so close to it only last Saturday.

Javelin throwers have "bad days" just like baseball players," Kovalakides explained as he got set for his pre-season training outing against talent-laden Trenton High this Wednesday (too late for inclusion of results in this issue of Town Topics). "I've had a number of bad days myself, but I'd just as soon not have two more this week."

Principal members of this PB cast, also hoping for "good days" with their captain, will be Dick Knowles, who placed second in the javelin and fifth in the 100 at Ashbury; Roddy Pauli, who finished third in the broad jump; Ron Gillette, who was fifth in the low hurdle; and Bill Dilworth, fifth in the javelin.

Coach Niles' 12-man entry will not walk away from New Brunswick with any team laurels, but there should be ample attention paid to Nick Kovalakides. He's very likely the No. 1 scholastic trackman in the state this year, he's got an excellent opportunity to outscore all others in the meet—and, with a little extra-special bit of timing, he's liable to produce the thrill that might even overshadow his sophomore achievement.

TITLES WON

Underdog Teams Triumph. Despite the fact that Yale and Harvard had been favored to win the lacrosse and tennis titles, respectively, this spring, both championships were taken by rapidly-improving Princeton teams. The Tigers had been dominant in each of these sports during the early part of the decade, slipped down the ladder briefly and then negotiated the climb back to the top somewhat faster than had been anticipated.

Ferris Thomson's lacrosse players rebounded from defeat in their next six and seven of their last eight, trimming Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Penn and Cornell in the process to record a perfect Ivy League record. With only four seniors on the squad that beat Cornell 11-2 in the final game, prospects for 1958 are bright.

John Conroy's tennis team loses only one senior from the outfit that compiled a fine 11-1 mark and trimmed defending champion Harvard, 9-0. Penn and Cornell were both williwashed last week in the matches that gave the Tigers the 1957 championship. Conroy's squash team had tied for the Ivy title with Harvard and Yale during the winter.

His teams have taken top honors more than any other in the 10-member Eastern Association, winning in 1941 and '42, '50, '51, '52 and '53, tying Yale in '54 and then winning outright again this season. Valuable groundwork is contributed season after season by freshman coach Dick Swinerton, whose first-year team was 6-1 this spring to give him a great post-war record of 90 victories in 96 matches.

Ball Game Saturday. A split in its last two Eastern League games settled the baseball team in eighth place, and left it looking upward at the 500 mark for the season. The record is now 9-10-1. —Continued on Page 25 with Fordham here Saturday at 2:30. The annual series with Yale concludes the 1957 season. Pennsylvania and Army both got away to big first innings against the Tigers last week, with the locals unable to overcome the deficit against the cadets. They rallied to catch Yale in the ninth, 4-3, but lost their final game in the league, 9-7.

Ed Seeman gave up three runs to the Quakers when he was clipped for a double and a triple, and chipped in with three walks. Then he shut down in commendable fashion, blanking the opposition. He gave way to a pinch hitter in the seventh. Leigh Ford picked up the victory when he held the visitors scoreless while the Tigers were showing over two runs in the eighth and one in the ninth.

The winning run scored on a wild pitch with the bases filled and two away. It left the Tigers with a chance to finish as high as sixth in the standings if they trimmed Army Saturday.

Chances of that went out the window early, however, as the team came up with three horrendous errors in the opening round that gave the cadets five unearned runs. Princeton never did catch up, despite some extremely shaky Army pitching that had to contend with five infield errors.

In the first inning, Leigh Ford let a bunt roll through his legs. Gene Locks threw wild past first on another, letting two runs score, and Dave Silhanek overran a fly in right for a two-base error. The Tigers committed six misplays in all, handing the victors seven unearned runs. What with the five errors charged to Army, it was one of the poorest exhibitions of baseball staged at University Field in a decade.

A home run in the second with one aboard made it 7-0 for the visitors, but Princeton kept chipping away and by the end of the fifth had cut the margin to 7-5. Herm Belz was pitching another typically good game, and there was reason to believe that the Tigers might pull it out.

With two down in the top of the sixth, however, and Army runners on second and third, the batter hit a swinging bunt down the first baseline. Herm Belz bounced on the ball but his quick throw required a back-hand stab by brother Carl on first and the latter could not hold it.

Two runs crossed the plate, offsetting the pair the Tigers got in their half of the round to end the scoring. They filled the bases

Worth Watching

A Princeton sophomore who has already won two Heptagonal titles will be aiming for an ICAA championship in the annual outdoor track meet Saturday at Randall's Island, N. Y. He is 19-year old Rod Zwirner, who has become a standard distance runner because there was nothing else to do after the golf season was over.

At Moorestown High School, Zwirner played golf and turned to track only because the schedule had a couple of miles left and he wanted to keep busy. He won the State mile championship as a junior, and by the time he had come to Princeton, had become good enough to crack both the mile and two-mile freshman records.

Last fall, he won the Heptagonal cross-country title, and a couple of weeks ago, he tipped off a 4:13.5 mile to take that event in the Heptagonal track meet. At Randall's Island, Zwirner will probably enter the two-mile (his favorite distance), but Coach Pete Morgan credits him with ability to "run anywhere from the quarter to five miles in good time."

Zwirner, Morgan reports, "is the best runner I have ever coached." As proof, the senior sophomore has cut almost nine seconds off his best time in the mile in the past year, going from 4:27 as a freshman to 4:13.5 in the Heptagonals at New Haven.

With two out in the ninth, but second baseman Jim Munich looked at three straight strikes to end matters.

CLOSE CONTEST

H&L Edges No. 1 Playing as if it intends to stay top of the Premier Baseball League standings all summer, Hook & Ladder (3-0) pinned defeat No. 1 on Princeton Engine Company No. 3 (1-1) this past week, nipping last season's powerhouse by a 3-2 count. H&L's triumph gave the pace-setters undisputed possession of first place, though Belle Mead (2-0)—which won over Princeton Junction (0-2) by forfeit—also remained unbeaten.

Doug Watson, Joe Toto and Tom Proccaccio were the heroes for H&L in the week's most important and exciting encounter. Watson held the usually hard-hitting No. 1 batters to five safeties while Toto and Proccaccio, each with two of the victors' seven hits, manufactured the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning on a double and a single. Hooker Rauch's homer with Bucky Cupples aboard had decided the game in the sixth, but that was the extent of No. 1's scoring as Tom Collins suffered his first pitching setback of the spring.

In the week's only other contest, Hopewell (2-1) turned back Lawrenceville (0-2) by a 8-3 margin. Blawenburg (also 0-2) received a bye, the league's officials deciding to skip a seven-team circuit following Mercer Engine Company No. 2's withdrawal from the ranks. On club will be given a bye each week.

GOOD NEWS DAY

Little Tigers Triumph, Princeton High School's varsity baseball team, apparently improving with age, will try to duplicate its success of last week in the season's last two games—makeup games against Trenton High this Friday at home and Trenton Catholic next Monday in Trenton. Both contests will be tough ones, but victory either way would be considered a fitting finish for the Little Tigers. (The outcome of this Wednesday's meeting with Hamilton High was not available when Town Topics went to press.)

Last week, behind the stout-hearted pitching of freshman Jack Hawkins and the two-for-four hitting of his battery mate, junior Alan Ammerman, PHS humbled Somerville, 9-3. It was the Little Tigers' top display of power this spring as they banged out 13 safeties which netted them two runs in the second inning, one in the third, two in the fourth, two in the fifth and one more in the sixth.

Hawkins, starting his first game for the Blue and White varsity, struck out only three Floreners and was hampered somewhat by six PHS errors behind him, but he allowed just five hits and was fine in the tight spots.

The banky youngster's mound performance, plus two RBIs on a well-timed single, provided Coach Harry Zoll with the sort of promises he enjoys looking forward to.

Ammerman, now clubbing the ball at a team-leading .87 clip hit Somerville's pitching for a single, double and homer (the latter being Princeton's first four-bagger of the year.) George Wilson, emerging from a sustained batting slump, picked up two hits in three at-bats and knocked in two runs for the Little Tigers, while Bryce Chase also starred for the victors with two safeties in four trips to the plate.

LUCK OF THE DRAW

PHS Net Team Wandering. Coach John Arcosetti's varsity tennis forces from Princeton High, currently in the midst of a better-than-expected net season, will test their mettle this Thursday in an interscholastic championship elimination match on the University Courts. As luck would have it, the Little Tiger netmen will meet their toughest foe in the Central Jersey League—Banc Catholic—the team that removed them from contention un-

THE SPIRIT IS WILLING: Though hardly the winningest baseball aggregation in Witherspoon School annals, for up-to-the-minute results, see Sports in Princeton, the 1957 varsity squad is a spirited group and eager to learn the fundamentals of the game, according to Coach Simon Moss. der similar circumstances a year ago.

Curiously, the PHS nettors, who urged the applicant last week by topping this same Red Bank aggregation, 3-2, to end Catholic's two-year streak of unbeaten performances in loop competition, also were scheduled to meet the talented shore enemy this Wednesday for the Central Jersey title (too late to include the results in this week's issue of Town Topics). Quite understandably, Coach Ansoett and his charges are beginning to wonder about the law of averages.

PHS reached the league finals by edging Haddon, 3-2, in a key play-off match this Monday in Freehold. Bill Pittzinger dropped his No. 1 singles tussle, but brothers Fritz and Winslow Marston captured the No. 2 and No. 3 tests, respectively, and Winslow paired with Pete Epstein to nail down the match by virtue of their success in the No. 2 doubles competition.

To get into the playoff category, Princeton compiled a 6-1 record in league matches—the same win-loss record registered by Red Bank Catholic against Central Jersey opposition. The Little Tigers lost their sole match of the season to Ashbury Park, 2-3, while beating Freehold, 5-0, Haddon, 3-2, Red Bank High, 4-1, Red Bank Catholic, 3-2, and Leonardo, 5-0.

ALL-STAR'S NAMED

Play Memorial Day. Following their participation in the annual Memorial Day parade, Princeton's YMCA Midget Leaguers will move on to Broken Field this Thursday for the mid-season All-Star game at 2:30 p.m. Elmer Greay, manager of the American loop-leading Orioles, will guide his circuit's representative team in the clash with the Nationals, handled by Clef Stern of the first-place Pirates.

The American All-Stars, named by their respective managers, will be Jeff Singer, Ed Mueller and Jeff Craft (alternate) of the Yankees; Dave Graham, Charlie Stuart and Barry Churnick (alternate) of the Red Sox; Chuck Housner, Joe Procarino and Jim Moran (alternate) of the Indians; Dan Corvino, Stan Palmer and Tom Mederos (alternate) of the Tigers; Warwick Boyd, Mike Sweeney and Howard McMorris (alternate) of the Athletics; and George Snee, Jim Furness and Chai Brumbaugh (alternate) of the Orioles.

Representing the National loop as All-Stars, the following managerial chores will compete in some popular contests: Dick Fichtette, Jim Morris and John Lang (alternate) of the Dodgers; Tommy Vultz, Mike Kempton and Mat Nicoll (alternate) of the Giants; John Counts, Al Spencer and Gippy Ferrara (alternates) of the Braves; Paul Tukey, Pete Weeber and Alan Keizer (alternates) of the Cardinals; Kirby Voorhes, Guy Wirsig and Steve Nemeth (alternate) of the Redlegs; and Jim Saucman, Jim Thompson and Bob Wallington (alternate) of the Pirates.

In regularly scheduled games last week, the Pirates (7-0) protected their unblemished record in the National by blanking the Braves, 9-0, and rallying to trip the Redlegs, 7-1, after a four-inning score. The Cards kept close to 2-1 league-leaders by downing the Braves and Giants by identical 9-2 scores, while the Dodgers finally came to life by tying the Giants, 5-5, and upsetting the Redlegs, 6-3. The Orioles protected their slim advantage in the American with a 13-0 victory over the Tigers and a 10-4 win over the Red Sox, but the Athletics forged into contention with impressive whitewash triumphs over the Indians, 10-0, and the Tigers, 15-0. The Yankees lost to the Red Sox, 10-4, then bounced back to stop the Indians, 7-3.

HUN WINS FINALE

"58 Preserved Bright, Zig Emery's Hun School baseball team, unbeaten at this time a year ago, wound up its 1957 campaign this week with a 5-0-1 record, breaking a four-game losing streak by downing Delbarton in the season's finale, 8-2. The veteran Red and Black coach, who predicted rough sledding for his club at the start of this spring's work, said he was "satisfied" with the results and "optimistic" concerning 1958, when eight starters will return to the fold.

If Hun can learn by its mistakes and come up with improved fielding at next year, there should be no stopping Emery's charges. The pitchers will be a year older, a definite benefit at the prep school level, and all of Hun's top hitters will be back to menace opposing hurlers. "Most Valuable Player" John Kenick, who recently was elected captain of the 1958 team as a result of his ability at first base and his 57 production of two homers and 22 RBIs by way of a .418 batting average, will lead the array, which includes Marshall Jenny (also over the 400 mark) and Dick Berger, George Cramer and Bob Gotschalk (all over 300).

In the second conquest of the season over Delbarton, the Johnny Huns managed only four hits, but capitalizing on a series of walks and errors by the Morris-town nine to collect a pair of runs in the first, third, fifth and sixth innings. Two days earlier, Bryn Athyn defeated the Princeton prepsters for the second time by a 6-2 count, using five Hun misuses to good advantage. Gotschalk, Hun's best pitcher with a 3-2 record, won over Delbarton, while Charlie Bennett dropped the Bryn Athyn decision.

Hun Presents Varsity Letters. The Hun School has awarded varsity letters to nine Princeton residents for participation on the baseball, lacrosse and crew squads. In addition, junior varsity letters were presented to eight other area residents.

Baseball Coach Zig Emery issued letters to George Cramer and Alan Frank, while Hawley Waterman handed lacrosse awards to Douglas Kerr, Paul Steiger and Leon Tucker. Among those receiving crew letters from C. Alan Ingleby were Fred Blalcher, James Campbell III, William Hagenbuch and William Leisner. J.V. awards for baseball were presented to David Coley, Thomas Cook, Jr., and Thomas Johnson. Those meriting j.v. crew letters were Arthur Blalcher, II, Peter Blalcher and William Fehr, Jr. Frederick Darke and Patrick Donohue, Jr. earned minor j.v. crew letters.

BETTER YEARS AHEAD

Lacrosse Season Over. The Hun School's varsity lacrosse team, which didn't exist three months ago, completed its first season on an erratic but educational note this past week. Coach Hawley Waterman's athletes dropped their fifth game in six tries (the sixth encounter was a tie contest), thereby closing the campaign with a poor win-loss basis. In spite of this percentage, the coach said "the boys did real well, all things considered" and he predicted better results along with a bigger schedule next year.

The season's finale saw Hun hold Pingry's junior varsity club to a 4-1 triumph, something of an achievement in view of Pingry's prowess in lacrosse. Prior to the engagement, the Red and Black stickmen were beaten by the Rutgers freshmen, 14-2, and a capable Freddie varsity, Mike Leimbach scored one of Hun's goals against Rutgers and two against Freddie. Mike Eptessa picked up the other marker in the Rutgers clash and Werner Hanzlik scored one against Freddie and the sole point against Pingry.

that Hauptil and Jim DeLong have been elected co-captains of the 1958 increase team.

BOWLING NOTES

Campaign action in an assortment of Princeton Recreation Center leagues came to a halt this past week as last leagues to complete their 1956-57 competition did so . . . now, there will be no series league leaving at PRC until fall, with exception of the Mixed Doubles loop which commences its summer of play on the evening June 5 . . . still several openings in this enjoyable league according to Dave J. Buttroughs, proprietor of the Princeton lanes.

Continuing the red-hot bowling that won it the second-half crown, Nassau Del conquered Glenmoor Diner in an Industrial League roll-off, thus earning the season's championship. . . Elmer Perantoni wound up with the league's single high game of 252, while Ralph Kleiber received an award for highest improvement of average (190 pins). In the Princeton "B" League, the National Guard, also a second-half taker, defeated Maul Electric in a roll-off for the championship.

DRAKE'S TAKES LEAD

NSC Finally Topped. At a meeting of the unbeaten this past week, Drake's blanketed the Nassau Social Club, 3-0, on the brilliant three-hit pitching of Bill Bergen to take over undisputed possession of first place in the Princeton Community Softball League. The winning club's fourth straight triumph (as opposed to NSC's 3-1 record) was achieved in the third inning when all of the game's runs were brought home by Harold Miller, his round-tripper tallying Ken Luck and Walt Shorten ahead of him.

ASCOB and the Sportsman's Club wound up the week's activities in a second place deadlock, each with 2-1 marks to date. The Applied Scientists applied themselves nobly at the plate, knocking out 11 hits in their 5-3 victory over cellar-dwelling Frazer's (0-4), while the Sportsmen were locked up in a terrific nine-inning, 1-1 tie contest with Sannino's (1-2). Sam Nini hurled for the Sportsman and Sam Lisi for the Plumbers in this hard-fought duel.

In the loop's only other encounter, Pearson's Builders (1-3) broke into the winning circle at the expense of the Nassau Club (also 1-3), with John Lane earning the win against Joe Campagna. The Builders led by a slim 2-1 count until the fateful fourth inning, when the losers' defense fell apart and four Pearson runs poured home. Tom Precacini's lusty drive proved to be the decisive hit of the battle.

WITHERSPOON COMEBACK

Team Finishes Fast. After a bad season's start that included three straight defeats, Witherspoon School's varsity baseball team has fought back to capture three in a row, then tie arch-rival Valley Road, one of its early campaign conquerors. This past week, Coach Simon Moste nine blanked Cranbury, 5-0, overpowered West Windsor, 11-4, and completed the seven-game 1957 schedule with a much-cherished 2-2 deadlock with the Valley Roaders.

Tommy Petrone's name was prominently featured for the comeback Witherspoon club in each of its last three outings. He pitched a one-hitter against Cranbury and eluded his own cause by driving in three runs with a triple and sacrifice fly, he batted three-for-four in the rout of West Windsor and he struck out 13 players while pitching a fine two-hit game against Valley Road.

Other Witherspoon standouts were Robert Swinerton, who chalked up his second mound success by tossing a six-hitter at West Windsor, Howard Goss, who banged out a double and a single during his team's 10-hit attack at West Windsor's expense; Gary Grover, who sparked it against Cranbury and Valley Road; and Lamont Fletcher, who did some fancy base-running to help account for the tie this Tuesday. For Valley Road, John Rogers whiffed nine and allowed only four safeties as he all but matched Petrone's performance.

Spring Horse Show Held. Heidi Erdman won the bareback jumping class at the Princeton Riding Club's 13th annual spring horse show last week-end at the Riding Club on Bayard Lane. Mrs. F. D. D'Agostino and her daughter, Nanda, won the family class. Winners of the beginners and intermediate horsemanship classes Saturday: Guy Vieho, William McCloud, Coleman Donaldson, Mary Tovers, Kathy Gonzales, Harrell Silverstein, Linda Waggoner, Lynn Cunningham, Peggy Wilbur and Thomas Ham.

Winners of the advanced classes on Sunday: Susan Smith, Sarah West, M. M. Collicello, Bonnie Cook, Bonnie Hunt, John Ford and Renny Travers. Miss Travers also won the Henry Bergh horsemanship class and the Atlanta Beale challenge trophy.

The Sunday family class was won by Heidi and Wendy Erdman. Other winners were Linda Clark, open jumping; Sarah West working hunters; Anne Bristol and Miss Travers pale class; Charles J. Anderson, adult jumping; and Miss Travers for the Monroe Challenge trophy class for schooling horses.

Lions Auxiliary to Meet. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Princeton Lions Club will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. Leonard Hienrich of the Brunswick Pike.

Election and installation of officers for the next 12 months will feature the program. The meeting will start at 7 p.m.

Picnic Date Set. Members and friends of Thistle Lodge #220, Daughters of Scotia, will gather at the home of Mrs. David Duncan of Federal City Road for a picnic on Sunday, June 2, at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Charles Cook and Mrs. George DeWitt are co-chairmen. Games and races will be provided for the children.

New Exhibition of Paintings. Paintings done in the Princeton area by Jacques Kupfermann will be on display June 4 through 22 at the Little Gallery on Palmer Square. Mr. Kupfermann, a native of Vienna, Austria, is currently living in Princeton.

A recent exhibition of Mr. Kupfermann's work won first prize in the State Exhibition of the Hunterdon County Art Association in Clinton. Last fall one of his paintings took top honors in a state show at the Montclair Museum.

News Of The CHURCHES

A LAYMAN SPEAKS
 "Are We Reaching Out?" Active laymen serve the double purpose of helping to ease a minister's schedule, and keeping alive within a congregation the traditional Protestant belief in the priesthood of all believers.
 Leo Bristol, Jr., who preached last Sunday's sermon at Trinity Episcopal church in Rocky Hill, is one of Princeton's most active lay churchmen. A former president of the Laymen's Movement for a Christian World, he is encouraged by the increased acceptance of religion in modern life, the number of religious leaders that are bought every year by the public, and the social climate that allows religion to be mentioned "casually and without embarrassment."

In his Sunday talk, however, Mr. Bristol questioned whether church-goers were extending their efforts "into new areas." "Are we reaching out in every way we can ... do we feel that we are growing as much spiritually as we are growing in numbers?"
 Mr. Bristol, who is director of public relations for Bristol-Styers products division, has reached out into many areas himself. He is a writer and amateur naturalist who has collected several volumes of church music, including "Hymns and Carols for Children," "Hymns for Children and Grownups," and two collections of anthems and hymns for junior choirs. All the anthems are his own compositions; the hymns and other compositions are collected from other sources.

During the summer months, Mr. Bristol serves as organist for All Saints Episcopal church in Bay Head. He was formerly Dean of the Princeton chapter of the American Guild of Organists.
 As a commuter, Mr. Bristol's time is bound by time-tables, and he does all his writing on the train between Princeton and New York.

At the moment, his active Episcopal layman has two projects which occupy his train time. He writes a column, "Manpower," that appears every other week in "Living Church" magazine, and he is preparing a biography of Robert Nelson Spencer, retired bishop of West Missouri.

Bulletin Notes. A pledge service led by Miss Shirley Johnson will be the feature of the final meeting of the Princeton Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service, to be held at the church, Thursday at 8 p.m. at the church. The Rev. Charles W. Marker will install officers for the coming year. Mrs. Rola Webb will present the annual report, and Mrs. Arthur Benson will lead the devotions for the evening.

Members of the Jewish Center congregation will hold their annual Spring Dance this Saturday at 9 p.m. at Greenacres Country Club. ... A benefit performance of "Taj Mahal Game" will be given on June 28 at the Lambertville Music Circus to raise money for the Yonkers Constabulary. Service operated by the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey. Trinity parishioners or friends may make reservations by calling Mrs. Edward M. Gorman, tel. 1-1872.

Unitarians have been granted a "use permit" by Princeton Township, which simply means that neighbors of the new church accept the fact that it will be there. A service will be held at the Kingston Presbyterian church at 5 p.m. this Friday to take 45 adults to New York.

... THE TIE THAT BINS. Three members of Rosedale Chapel, whose associations with the community church go back many years, attended last Sunday's dedication ceremonies of the remodeled chapel and its new addition. Left to right: Miss Esther Kirk, whose family donated the land on which the chapel was built in 1899; the Rev. S. S. Rizzo, pastor; Ernest Foster and Mrs. Foster. Rosedale Chapel's new addition has been dedicated to the memory of Leonard C. Foster, son of the Fosters, who was killed in World War II. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

Alligator, Anyone? Newest of the undergraduate money-making operations to develop as a result of the pressing need to meet all bills before term's end is the "Student Alligator Agency." Actually registered with Princeton University's Bureau of Student Aid and Employment, this two-man enterprise is dedicated to the shipping of 10 to 18-inch baby alligators to friends (and enemies) anywhere in the U. S.

An idea born during a spring vacation trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the Student Alligator Agency is owned and operated by two seniors, William J. Jones Jr. of South Orange and Raymond S. Willey of Pittsburgh. Even though their senior thesis work station, the Alligator Agents have sold more than 30 young reptiles in a two-week period. They have also opened "authorized agencies" on the Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke and Cornell campuses.

An idea of the type of occasion for which most of the alligators have been ordered so far is given by Mr. Jones, who notes—that "very few of our customers sign the gift cards." Nevertheless, a number of the animals have been shipped to towns in this area.

Acting as middle men for an undisclosed entrepreneur in Fort Lauderdale, the two seniors find their business growing much faster than their wares, which take on an average of one inch in length per month. "After a while, I guess, you need a pretty big bathtub to keep them," says Mr. Jones "but that's not our worry."

Right now, about the only worry facing the two seniors is the fear that someone will send them an alligator. "We've already got a 'demonstration model," they report, "and we just wouldn't know what to do with another one."

Summer School Planned. The Princeton Summer School, under the direction of H. Lee McConahy and Harry W. Zoll will be held this year from July 1 to August 9, it was announced this week. Enrollment will be open June 25 to June 29 at Princeton High School.

High school level courses in mathematics, foreign languages, sciences, social studies, business education and English will be offered in 90-minute sessions each morning at the high school. There will also be elementary remedial courses in reading and arithmetic for grades 4 through 8 and elementary typing.

Faculty for the summer school will include the following: J. V. Drulis, business education; Frances Forsbeck and Terry Volwieder, elementary courses; Joseph L. Pierson, social studies; Morrill F. Shepard, mathematics; Frank M. Soda, foreign languages; Frank Clark, latin; Mr. Zell, sciences and Mr. McConahy, English.

Lawrence Forms Civic Group. Mayor Richard J. Coffee of Lawrence Township plans to appoint a citizen's advisory committee in the near future to aid in the development of community enterprises. Nominees for the proposed group will represent all sections of the Township, he said.

The committee would examine such projects as industrial and research development, park site planning, school requirements and residential growth. "With the development of a new master plan currently underway," Mayor Coffee indicates, "the Township Committee feels that such a diversified group will contribute immeasurably in establishing a blueprint for future growth."

Lawrenceville Women To Meet.
The Woman's Club of Lawrenceville will hold its annual meeting Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Fred Eschelberger.

COLONIAL, ATMOSPHERE
FOR COUNTRY ADDICTS
at $27,000

You have to be a certain kind of person to buy this house—you can't be someone who must have that "Princeton address," can't resist driving (25 minutes on good roads), must like country living (5 acres of orchards, brook, slopes and a view). If you are that certain person, what a buy! The 200 year old house has everything an old house can offer—fireplaces, wide floorboards throughout, old glass panes, wonderful cellar with huge fireplace, big beams—plus a tested job of modernistic and decorating in the attractive kitchen, dining room, living room, five bedrooms. An old carriage house could make a separate apartment or guest house. Are there any writers with mothers-in-law reading this?

Jacqueline Cochran's

FLOWING VELVET

THE ONLY BEAUTY FORMULA CONTAINING HYDROLIN

The modern beauty formula that has given new hope to countless women! Women like you whose drying skin robbed them of that fresh young bloom.

Jacqueline Cochran finds the answer . . . Hydrolin. Exclusive Hydrolin transfers beneficial moisture into the deep tissues of the skin. Thanks to Hydrolin . . .
and other rich components, only Flowing Velvet acts on your skin
these three ways:

1. It furnishes moisture that actually sinks into your skin.
2. It provides necessary oils for essential lubrication.
3. It maintains the normal balance of oils and moisture.

One touch mirrors the beautiful change! Tiny lines smooth out, years seem to melt away! To speed results, use Flowing Velvet day and night. It's hormone-free, greaseless, won't smear your make-up or smudge your pillow.

See for yourself. Make Flowing Velvet your 24-hour beauty care
. . . and see how much younger and lovelier you can look. Why
